YANK, JAP NAVIES SPAR FOR OPENING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A major sea battle involving what may be the largest United States naval force yet to fight the Japanese in the Pacific was indicated today in a report from Secretary Knox of preliminary skirmishes with an enemy fleet off the Solomon Islands.

The Japanese fleet steamed toward the southeast Solomons last week apparently in a new effort to regain those important South Pacific islands.

GERMANY—Third great raid on the German manufacturing city of Cologne, in the heart of the Ruhr valley district, is staged by Royal Air Force bombers, smashing new installations. First of 1000 plane raids was carried off last May, with a second great attack in October.

SEA BATTLE between Jap and U. S. fleets and air armadas was raging today off the Rennell Islands, south of Guadalcanal. Navy is mum on outcome of battle except to admit both sides have suffered losses.

Thus far, the Secretary of the Navy told a press conference the fighting has been a "process of feeling out on both sides."

The International News Service correspondent at the conference reported Knox seemed irritated by persistent questioning.

Knox described as incorrect any assumption in a Navy communique last night that a major engagement already is under way. In that communique the Navy reported, "The increased activity on the part of the Japanese indicated a major effort to regain control of the entire Solomons area."

The communique, Knox said, might better have told of the increased activity and added "this could be an indication," of an enemy effort to regain the area.

"It is not true," Kno said, "that a great big fight is going on. There are a lot of preliminary dispositions and preliminary moves. But there is no really pitched battle as yet."

JAPANESE SPARRING

He asserted that the Japanese, in making reports of a sea battle in the Solomons area, were "on a fishing expedition," and, replying to inquiries about the extent of the fighting, cited the communique and declared, "you'll have to be satisfied with that."

Knox added that in the Solomons area generally, "there is a long, tough, hard fight ahead of us."

A Navy spokesman asserted, however, that Japanese claims of having sunk two battleships and three cruisers and of having damaged another battleship and cruiser were "grossly exaggerated." At the same time he described as an understatement the Japs' claim of having lost only 10 planes.

While the limits of the battle zone were not clearly defined, the Navy said that the extent and fury of the Japanese actions indicated that a concerted new effort to regain control of the southeast Solomons had been undertaken. A Tokyo report broadcast Monday fixed the scene of one action as the vicinity of Rennel island, about 100 miles south of Guadalcanal, but that was without confirmation.

LASTS FOR DAYS

The Japanese said the Rennel engagement was fought Friday and Saturday, but this too lacked con-

3 Ships Sunk By Destroyer

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3 (AP)—An American destroyer, caught unexpectedly in a ring of Japanese warships, sank an enemy destroyer and a cruiser and delivered the coup de grace to a battleship of the Kongo class, it became known today.

The almost incredible exploit of the tiny craft was learned by the Examiner and confirmed by the 12th Naval District, which did not, however, make any official announcement.

The district said the Japanese losses already had been reported by the Navy but not previously credited to a single destroyer. The scene and time of the action and the name of the destroyer were withheld for reasons of security.

The American ship is undergoing repairs at a West Coast shipyard, where its feat has been recognized by painting miniatures of the three Japanese vessels on its bulkhead.

The destroyer, since given the pet name of "Baby" by her crew, sailed inadvertently into the range of the three Jap ships when an order to change course failed to reach her.

The skipper looked over the situation and said:

"Well, we're in here, so let's keep going—keep going and keep firing until they sink us or we shoot our way the hell out of here."

The Jap destroyer was first engaged and left flaming as "Baby" turned her attention to the cruiser. The method of attack was not disclosed, but the Examiner speculated that torpedoes must have been used. At any rate the cruiser exploded shortly.

The battleship then got the tiny American vessel's range, but too late to avoid taking torpedo hits which sank her.

The American destroyer, although damaged, sailed away under her own power.

YANKS GAIN IN TUNISIA

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Fruitful American combat team and aerial thrusts were announced today from Central Tunisia, but a spokesman said United States armored forces were repulsed in a fierce drive against Faid Pass and had temporarily broken off the engagement.

"The German artillery probably outranged our own," the spokesman said.

Blasting its way into Sened in a push upon Maknassy, road and rail junction 33 miles from the Gulf of Gabes, an American combat force operating south of the Faid pass sector captured a number of prisoners and tanks, it was announced.

United States fliers smashed at the supply port of Sfax, athwart Marshal Rommel's escape corridor along the Gulf of Gabes, destroyed seven German planes in a sweep across the Mediterranean between Tunisia and Sicily and attacked air fields and munitions dumps.

Fires visible for 30 miles were set at Sfax.

RAF BLASTS COLOGNE

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Feb. 3 (INS)—A "thunderbolt" raid against the bomb-battered city of Cologne was added by the Royal Air Force today to its mounting series of destructive raids on industrial areas of Germany.

Cologne was the target of the RAF's gigantic 1000-plane attack last May, and the raid today was one of a series that has successfully kept Cologne industries out of the war since then.

More than 100 "super blockbuster" 4000-pound bombs were dropped. The attacking pilots and bombardiers had their objectives carefully pin-pointed in advance.

Air ministry spokesmen said it was certain that tremendous damage was caused, particularly to submarine part factories.

The term "thunderbolt" was applied officially to the raid because of the type of bombs used and the fact certain specific targets were singled out.

STALIN PRAISES STALINGRAD MEN

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 3 (AP)—Premier Stalin congratulated the Red army today for liquidation of the last of Hitler's troops at Stalingrad and Soviet shock units flushed with this greatest victory of the war over Germany plunged ahead on all fronts.

The Soviet information bureau announced late yesterday the 162-day siege of Stalingrad was ended.

More than 500,000 of the cream of Axis soldiery were reported to have been slain or captured at that Volga Verdun since the Russian winter offensive began Nov. 19—275,000 killed and 228,650 imprisoned.

Seasoned Red army divisions were freed to reinforce the offensives from the North Caucasus to Kursk.

Complete capitulation of all surviving Axis troops and their generals in the Stalingrad area led Stalin, the supreme commander, to message Marshal N. N. Voronov, representative of the supreme command, and Col.-Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky, field commander, the following:

CONGRATULATES TROOPS

"I congratulate you and the troops of the Don front for successful achievement of the liquidation of enemy troops surrounded at Stalingrad. I hereby express my gratitude to all fighters, com-

RADIO FOOD OFFER BRINGS HUNGRY JAPS TO U. S. LINE

By WILLIAM HIPPLE

GUADALCANAL, Jan. (delayed) — (AP) — An encouraging sign was seen here today when a number of Japanese soldiers surrendered in response to a broadcast over a loudspeaker from the American lines.

They were the first Japanese on Guadalcanal to give themselves up without compulsion and discredit the legend that all Japanese are ready to fight until death for emperor and country.

These hungry, sick soldiers were definitely discouraged and tired of fighting. They gladly accepted American offers to give them hot cooked rice, cigarettes and good treatment and came in with their hands in the air.

"I was sure I would die," one of the prisoners said through an interpreter. "There was no hope. They have promised us reinforcements and airplanes day after day, but these promises were never kept. My feelings as a Japanese soldier were gone.

"I didn't want to be a Japanese any more—I wanted to be an American. When I heard the voice from the Americans promising good food and good treatment I came in."

This prisoner was Pvt. Akiyoshi Hasamoto, 23, of Fukuoka in southern Japan. He said many other Japanese soldiers felt as he did about the war and expressed the belief that many others would surrender in response to broadcasts in Japanese and pamphlets written in Japanese.

Furthermore, Hasamoto said that if Guadalcanal is a sample, he doesn't think Japan will win the war.

The Japanese soldiers were told by their officers on landing, he said, that fighting against the Americans would be easy and it would be easy to take prisoners. He said he soon developed a high respect for American fighters.

A young carpenter with an elementary education, Hasamoto joined the army in 1940, becoming a member of the third battalion of the 124th Infantry which was part of the 18th Division.

His regiment, called the "Oka" unit after its commanding officer, Col. Oka, was the "best regiment in the Japanese army" until it was mercilessly cut up on Guadalcanal, he said.

At the time of his surrender his battalion—normally about 900 strong—had been reduced to 230 effectives. He said he was in a pocket which was pounded night and day by artillery.

Hasamoto said he wished to do everything possible to help the United States win the war and offered to broadcast from the lines to his comrades.

EAGER HUNDREDS RUSH TO DON WAACS, WAVES, SPARS UNIFORMS

By KATHERIN DONOVAN

Pledging themselves to respond to the need of their country, and to live up to the traditions of their fighting men, both living nd dead, hundreds of patriotic young women applied by mail and in person today for enlitment in the WAACS, WAVES and SPARS at the Record-American and Sunday Adverser recruiting office, 5 Winthrop sq.

One young wife, a real "Army girl," born at an Army Camp and daughter of a soldier, sought to uphold her family's proud heritage.

"I am interested in joining the WAACS," she wrote. "I am an Army girl and was born at Fort Rodman, New Bedford. My father served for 27 years, and I feel I have some basic training for the WAACS. Please send me some information about joining."

SEEKS VENGEANCE

The mother of a son who only a few months ago gave his life for his country writes of her desire to avenge his death and help her country to victory. She writes:

"I wish I were a WAAC so that I could get even in some way for what the Japs have done to me, and help win this war. I lost a son in the Pacific fleet this past Aug. 8. I am strong, and want a man-size job to do."

Typical of the spirit of the women seeking enlistment are these letters, and those who applied in person showed equal interest and equal enthusiasm for a job which will release men of the Army, Navy and Coast Guard for active fighting.

During the day the recruiting office received a personal visit from Capt. C. H. J. Keppler, U. S. N., director of officer procurement for New England and in charge of recruiting for WAVES and SPARS. Capt. Keppler paid tribute to the co-operation of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser with the Navy, and spoke of the great opportunity for service for all New England girls who qualify.

The drive represents the greatest recruiting drive for women in New England's history, and it is also a "Wish Contest" to determine a typical New England girl to represent each branch of the service — Miss New England Army, Miss New England Navy and Miss New England Coast Guard.

MASS INDUCTION

Announcement of the selection of these three young women will be made at a mass induction at Boston Garden—a patriotic trib-

11 Flee Blaze Near Lawley's

Eleven persons including eight small children, fled early today as flames swept ther home in Lawley st., Neponset, and endangered houses near the Lawley shipyard.

Earl Andreason, 35, the father, tried vainly to check the blaze and suffered burns about the hands. He ran in his nightclothes to the shipyard, from where an alarm was sounded.

His wife, Mrs. Anna Andreason, 35, guided out the children: Phyllis 14; Doris 12;, Earl, Jr.; Anna, 10; Joan, 7; Thomas, 5; Barbara, 4, and Gloria, 2, who was carried out by Doris. A lodger, George Baker, 30, was also driven out.

BRITAIN AHEAD IN U-BOAT WAR

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, told Commons today that there had been "periods of the most heartening success" in the fight against Axis submarines.

Because of the difficulty of confirming hits in "all the numerous attacks on enemy U-boats," however, it is not possible to say whether they are being sunk faster than they are being built, Alexander said.

Move Begun To Protect Draft Dads

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A War Manpower Commission announcement that family heads employed in non-essential jobs will be drafted into the armed forces unless they shift to essential work gave impetus today to a Congressional move to enact new safeguards for men with children.

Members of the House Military Committee predicted speedy action on legislation introduced by Representative Kilday (D.) of Texas, to prevent the induction of married men with children so long as there are physically fit single men or childless married men in the same state.

Briefly, it would extend the system of filling draft quotas from a local board basis to a statewide basis.

It would also set up deferment priority based on a man's family status, the effect being that all single men in a state would be drafted first, followed by married men without children, married men with one child, and so on.

"This would prevent such inequities as the drafting of a father by one local board while an adjoining board has more than enough eligible single men or married men without children," Kilday said.

Kilday's decision to press for prompt action brought a promise of support from Chairman May (D.) of Kentucky.

"The intention of Congress has been that men with children should not be drafted until all other eligible men have been called," said Representative Brooks (D.) of Louisianna.

"It stands to reason that men with families should be the last to be drafted," commented Representative Thomas (R.) of New Jersey. "Unless it becomes absolutely necessary, these men should not be taken because in a majority of cases the worrying they naturally would do over their families back home would lessen their effectiveness as fighting men."

LONDON NUPTIALS—Diana Wynyard of the films and director Carol Reed became Mr. and Mrs. today, says a report from London.

5 SAVED FROM FUMES

Saved from asphyxiation by her son's timely discovery of her plight, Mrs. Marion Joyce, 45, of Windsor st., Cambridge, and her four other children were reported recovering today from the effects of coal gas.

They were overcome in their sleep, shortly after midnight, when fumes from a defective furnace seeped through the house.

Orrin Joyce, 13, had stayed up late reading and discovered the near-tragedy when, prior to retiring, he went to the rooms of the children to see that they were properly "tucked in." His two-year-old brother and three sisters he found groggy from the effects of the gas.

Going to his mother's room, he found her unconscious. The boy ran to the home of a neighbor for help and police were summoned. Cora Joyce, 12, and Judy, 8, were revived at the scene by police and firemen.

Mrs. Joyce and Pearl, 4, and Ronald, 2, were removed to Cambridge City Hospital, where the mother was held for treatment and the children later released. The father, Lester Joyce, is an engineer on a fishing boat and was away when the accident occurred.

WORSE BUTTER SHORTAGE DUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Government food authorities anticipate a new outbreak of consumer complaints over butter shortages.

Civilians who have been able to get only a quarter of a pound now and then may have even greater difficulty during the next several weeks as the result of a government order requiring creamery butter manufacturers to set aside 30 per cent of their output for war needs. The order went into effect Monday.

Butter production is at a relatively low level now, but should increase in the spring when dairy cows freshen, pastures revive and milk production picks up. The civilian demand, estimated to be at least 15 per cent greater than before the war, is so strong, say officials of the Food Production Administration, that rationing may have to be resorted to.

Here is how the government plans to divide the 1943 supply:

It estimates production of creamery and farm butter at 2,100,000,000 pounds.

Two-thirds of the war supply, or about 352,000,000 pounds, will go to the armed forces, while the remaining third, or 177,000,000 pounds, will be made available for lend-lease shipment.

Remaining for civilians will be 70 per cent of the creamery output, or 1,236,000,000 pounds, and the entire output of 335,000,000 pounds of farm butter, or a total supply of 1,571,000,000 pounds. Officials estimate this will provide a per capita civilian supply of 13 pounds a year. Consumption last year averaged 17 pounds.

Adm. Halsey Not 'OLD So-and-So'

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Navy Secretary Knox told this story on Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., commander in the south Pacific, during a speech last night by telephone from Washington to the Foreign Press Ass'n dinner:

"I am reminded of a story I heard out in the Pacific about Admiral Halsey. He was running up a gangway and overheard a bluejacket whisper, 'There goes Admiral Halsey, the old so-and-so.' Halsey turned around in rage and bellowed: 'Who called me old?'"

The admiral is 60.

Nab 2 in Nylon Black Market

DETROIT, Feb. 3 (AP)—A black market in nylon hose from which a Detroit couple grossed nearly $30,000 within a month was uncovered today by federal agents and Office of Price Administration men.

Arthur Katz, 38, former jewelry salesman, and his wife Dena, 35, admitted selling the hose at $4 a pair from their hotel room, OPA authorities declared.

Women buyers, accepted on a "reference system" through which previous buyers vouched for them, purchased an average of 1800 pairs a week for the last four weeks.

Katz and his wife were charged with violating the ceiling price of $1.85 a pair. The maximum penalty is a year in prison and $5000 fine on each sale, the U. S. District Attorney's office said.

STRETCH your budget—first prices here must be low or they are automatically marked down 25%, 50% and 75% after 12, 18 and 24 selling days. Goods given away to charitable institutions after 30 selling days.

Slayer of Racketeer's Girl Sought in Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (INS)—Police sought today the slayer of a beautiful, auburn-haired photographer's model whose battered and slashed body was found in her flame-swept apartment by firemen who broke in the door.

The victim was Miss Estelle Evelyn Carey, 34, former friend of Nick Dean, labor racketeer now serving an eight-year term in federal prison for conspiracy to extort more than a million dollars from motion picture executives.

The body lay on the dining room floor. Her lips had been smashed. There were five cuts and bruises on her face. Her nose was broken.

The struggle apparently had started in the kitchen.

In spite of the terrific beating, Dr. Thomas A. Carter, coroner's physician, said death evidently was caused by smoke fumes inhaled while she lay unconscious.

The body was clad in a light housecoat, flimsy underwear, shoes and stockings. The garments had been consumed by the fire up to the waist.

Detectives reported Miss Carey had been known for years as "Nick Dean's girl," but that she had other admirers, all of them wealthy. Acquaintances described her as "mad about furs, jewelry and money."

Police Capt. John P. Ryan said Dean, a former Al Capone henchman, met Miss Carey about 11 years ago, when she was a waitress, was struck by her beauty and installed her as a dice game girl in the Colony Club which he and another man operated.

Dean thought so well of her, according to Capt. Ryan, that he eventually made her a director of the gambling concession and awarded her 25 per cent of the profits.

Letters found in her apartment showed that she had many men friends.

Wakefield Seaman Dies of Gun Wound

Death of Joseph G. Baril, 31, of Wakefield, a master in the Merchant Marine, was disclosed today in a Navy message to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Baril. The message said he died of gunshot wounds, but gave no further details. His parents received a letter two weeks ago indicating he was under treatment on a hospital ship.

His brother, Henry, is serving with the Army in the Colomons. Baril was married. He leaves a widow and one child.

MYSTERY CALL FOR JURORS

In a move shrouded in secrecy, the Attorney-General's office today requested a special session of the Suffolk County grand jury be called for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The request was made to Dist. Atty. Foley who transmitted to Judge Frank J. Donahue. The judge notified Clerk of Superior Court William M. Prendible and instructed him to issue the call.

Foley's office was unable to give any explanation for the surprise move. Efforts to reach the Attorney-General were fruitless.

Speculation immediately arose that the so-called second phase of the Cocoanut Grove disaster probe was to be presented to the jurors. It was recalled the attorney-general's office promised further developments at the time 10 indictments were returned by the December grand jury.

Also mentioned as a possible explanation for the extraordinary session was additional evidence in the $90,000,000 Boston numbers pool ring which was exposed by sensational state police raids last month.

2-Name Man In 2-Wife Case Held

Alfred D. MacLeod, who as Walter Lloyd McLaughlin, 32-year-old Fore River shipyard worker, is also charged by police with having two wives, today pleaded not guilty to non-support charges of a woman claiming to be wife No. 1, and was held for the grand jury.

Mrs. Ruth MacLeod of Union pk., South End, testified that she had sought her husband since she and her 7-year-old son, Alfred D. MacLeod, Jr., had been abandoned in April, 1938. A few days ago he was arrested on her complaint, after a fellow-worker at the shipyard told Mrs. MacLeod that he felt that the man known as McLaughlin was her missing husband.

TAKES DIVORCE PAPERS

While MacLeod, or McLaughlin, stood in the dock of the municipal court today, a deputy sheriff, acting for Mrs. MacLeod's attorney, served him with divorce papers.

The man accepted the service, mumbling under his breath. In lieu of $2500 bail set by Judge Gillen, MacLeod was taken to Charles st. jail.

In Dorchester court, under the name of McLaughlin, he was held for the grand jury in $3000 on a polygamy charge. He heatedly denied ever having seen the attractive brunette who claimed to be his first wife.

"MR. & MRS. McLAUGHLIN"
He's Held as Bigamist

Detective Sergt. Arthur Tiernan of police headquarters told the court that the name McLaughlin was assumed and used by MacLeod while living on Adams st., Dorchester, with the former Katherine O'Connor of Dorchester, mother of an 18-months-old child.

MARRIED IN 1935

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Ruth MacLeod, today told Judge Gillen that she and the shipyard worker were married March 10, 1935, and lived in Rutland sq., South End, until April, 1938 when he left her.

She said she instituted a search for him and in Jan., 1939 obtained a complaint against him. However, it wasn't until a few days ago when he was arrested, that she saw him again, Mrs. MacLeod said.

Probation records shown to Judge Gillen, read that MacLeod under the name of McLaughlin, was married to Katherine O'Connor on Sept. 5, 1940.

'42 TAX AT '41 RATES URGED

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (INS)—Chairman Doughton (D.) of North Carolina of the House Ways and Means Committee today proposed a new tax plan designed to put the nation on a pay-as-you-go basis by moving rates back a year while at the same time making collections current.

Advancing the plan as Randolph Paul, general counsel of the Treasury Department, testified before the committee, Doughton heard his proposal termed by the witness as "very worthy of serious consideration."

Declaring that because the 1942 tax law was not enacted until late in the year, thus giving new taxpayers "only short warning," Doughton proposed:

1—That taxes on 1942 income payable next March 15 be levied at the 1941 rates, thus forgiving all increases voted in the 1942 tax act.

2—Enactment of new legislation to collect on a pay-as-you-go basis in the near future, probably starting July 1, taxes on 1943 income at 1942 rates, with these levies to be deducted from pay checks.

3 'TEEN-AGE BOYS SEIZED

Three 15-year-old boys were routed out of bed today by police and taken into custody following the arrest, at gunpoint, of another companion of the same age in a Fields Corner filling station.

With the apprehension of the youthful quartet, more than 30 breaks in Greater Boston laundries, stores and garages during the past four months have been solved, police stated

The gunpoint arrest in the filling station today resulted when Patrolman John Yetman, investigating a broken window, surprised the youth.

Later, Sergt. John Maher and a squad of officers staged three early morning raids in the Savin Hill section of Dorchester, routing the trio of youths out of bed and taking them into custody.

British Envoy Uses Hunt Kit Disguise

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 2 (delayed)—(AP) — Sir Hughe Knatchbull - Hugessen, British ambassador to Turkey, went to the meeting of Prime Minister Churchill and President Ismet Inonu of Turkey Saturday disguised as a hunter, it was disclosed today.

The ambassador and his party took shotguns and hunting kits to confuse any Axis agents who might have been lurking about.

Gases Fought In Paper Suit

A coverall paper suit to protect civilian defense workers from mustard, Lewisite and other "blister gases" was recommended today to the inter-regional training conference of defense officials now in session at OCD headquarters here.

The suit, recommended by the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, was designed by Theodore C. Sargent of Swampscott, state gas officer, and Frederick H. Frost, of Portland, Me.

The two men also have developed pads of "detector paper" for air raid wardens and gas officers. The white detector paper reacts to blister gases by turning a bright blue.

No "Pigs is Pigs" Deluge for Beverly

The lid is on pigs in Beverly. The city's board of health has turned down 100 applications of residents seeking to keep pigs and threatens to impose a fine of $100 on any violator.

Approved hens, while within the health law of the city, may not be kept anywhere in the residential districts, the board cautioned.

Merchant Marine Lost 3200 in Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—American Merchant Marine losses in dead and missing during the first year of the war totaled more than 3200—3.8 per cent of the total number of merchant sailors—compared with a rate of three-fourths of one per cent for the armed services, Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, said today.

In a statement "to clear up rumors and reports of personnel difficulties among the crews of the nation's war cargo carriers,' Davis said America's 70,000 seamen "delivered the goods," and showed "patriotism, courage and devotion to duty."

FLYNN CLOSING PLEA BEGINS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3 (AP)—The defense at Errol Flynn's trial on statutory rape charges today begins final argument for acquittal of the screen star, whose imprisonment was demanded yesterday by the state.

Describing Flynn as "the great and glamorous boy of the screen," Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas W. Cochran asked the superior court jury of nine women and three men to send the star "to the state prison, where he belongs."

Cochran summarized the case of Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16, Hollywood showgirl, who alleges Flynn was twice intimate with her on his yacht during a trip to Catalina island in August, 1941:

"Here is a young girl, healthy and happy, with normal instincts. She meets the great glamor boy of the screen ,the great Errol Flynn, and is selected by him to accompany him on his beautiful, palatial yacht to enchanting Catalina island.

"It wasn't until after she had got her feet back on earth, literally and figuratively, that she realized what she had lost."

The bespectacled, stocky prosecutor then asked:

"Why should there be any different law for Errol Flynn and some unknown man down on Main st., if he committed the crime of statutory rape?"

When Cochran described him as "the glamor man of all glamor men," Flynn blushed and raised a hand to his bowed head.

Use Psychology In Child Killing

CINCINNATI, Feb. 3 (AP)—Police turned today to psychology in an attempt to find a motive for the strangulation of 29-month-old Gail Marie Bradner, only childr of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bradner.

Maj. John Seebohm, inspector of police, said a "strangled" doll was discovered on a kitchen chair in the room adjacent to the one where police found the garroted body of the blonde, blue-eyed child. The doll also was blonde, and the noose around its neck was similar to that used in the slaying.

Miss Anna Marie Teal, 31, a former mental patient, walked into Central police station yesterday and said:

"I have killed a child."

GENERAL SHUTDOWN LOOMS IN SOUTHERN N. E. OIL CRISIS

With barely enough heavy fuel oil on hand in the Providence-Tiverton-Fall River depots to supply institutions and other priorities users, many factories, schools and business establishments in southern New England were on the verge of a general shutdown today.

Effective at one minute past midnight this morning was a new emergency order issued by New England OPA Director Kenneth B. Backman, banning delivery of oil to users who have more than a three days' supply.

Backman frankly declared that this move can only help protect supplies needed by hospitals and similar institutions and that "there is not enough oil to meet the demand," of industrial concerns.

It was estimated that more than 30,000 employes of Blackstone Valley, New Bedford, Fall River and Rhode Island textile plants face idleness because of the shortage.

Schools are closing in many Rhode Island communities. Reopening of Brown University in Providence, following an extended winter vacation, was postponed two weeks.

Backman's order limiting deliveries affects, in addition to all Rhode Island, cities and towns in Worcester, Middlesex, Norfolk and Bristol Counties and all of Cape Cod in Massachusetts.

Meanwhile, the Massachusetts fuel outlook also grew darker because of depletion of home heating oil supplies. Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, state conservator, described the shortage of No. 2 fuel oil as "critical" and advised:

"Home heating oil is now more valuable than gold. Guard it carefully."

The only phase of the shortage which seems less severe is the range oil situation. New kerosene shipments have arrived by train, bringing relief to thousands of tenement dwellers.

Col. Natalie's Backers to Seek Full Probe

Defeated by legislative red tape in their efforts to obtain a public hearing on the ouster of Natalie Hays Hammond, supporters of the former commandant of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps announced today they would seek approval of an order for a complete investigation of her removal.

Rep. Enrico Cappucci, Democrat, of East Boston, said he would ask the rules committee to permit an immediate probe of the Hammond dismissal. If that fails, other Hammond backers said they would appeal to Gov. Saltonstall.

An anticipated hearing on the ouster by the joint legislative committee on military affairs and public safety was frustrated when Chairman Ralph V. Clampit, of Springfield, ruled that the scheduled hearing on a bill to provide home rule for civilian defense could not be used to air the Hammond controversy.

Clampit's ruling was supported by Rep. Frederick Pierce of Greenfield, who commented that "this is no place to wash dirty linen."

SALARY LIMIT HITS CHARITY

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—A significant warning that the recently imposed $25,000 income ceiling threatens to cripple many charitable, educational and religious institutions was issued today by the New York Infirmary for Women and Children.

The board of directors, headed by Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the infirmary, has voted to appoint a special committee to take up with other hospitals and charities the possibility of a joint appeal to Congress against the $25,000 ceiling.

A public statement by the board points out:

"Like countless other charitable, educational and religious institutions in America, this hospital probably would never have been created or maintained in a country which had limited opportunity in individual money-making efforts.

"The board unanimously agreed that institutions like the infirmary may be permanently crippled if contributions are withdrawn by individuals affected by the new ruling.

"The hospital last year cared for 3563 bed patients and 6356 dispensary patients."

In addition to Mrs. Vanderlip, members of the board include Mrs. Harold E. Talbott, Mrs. Dodge Sloan, Mrs. Nicholas M. Schenck, Mrs. Bruce Barton, Mrs. David Sarnoff, Dr. S. Josephine Baker, Mrs. Samuel T. Jones and others.

Girl, 18, Takes Brother's Oil Truck Route

Replacing her soldier-brother on the home front, dark-haired, petite, 18-year-old Phyllis Cardone of 42 Lowland ave., East Cambridge, today became an oil, coal and ice delivery girl, manning a huge three-ton truck.

Anthony Cardone, in business with his dad, Joseph Cardone, 53, received notification recently that he was to be inducted into Uncle Sam's Army.

Phyllis Cardone

Papa Cardone was perturbed, as he is not well and cannot drive the truck. Without his son, he faced the prospect of losing his business.

Overhearing her dad and brother discussing the problem, Phyllis resigned her job and returned home to announce:

"I'm going to take your place on the truck, Tony."

GOES AFTER OIL

Today, Tony is at Fort Devens—having tried unsuccessfully to join the Navy—and hazel-eyed Phyllis, who stands 5 feet ,2 inches and weighs but 125 pounds, swung her three-ton truck into the East Cambridge Garage, Inc., Cambridge, for a supply of fuel oil.

Manager Irving S. Stone admitted it was going to be difficult to keep saying "no oil today" to smiling Phyllis, but he took time yesterday to explain to her what she might expect from day to day. Stories of the peddlers' daily headaches failed to discourage her, and she reported bright and early this morning to wait, with other peddlers, for a fill-up.

"I'm going to stick to this job and keep this business alive until my brother Tony comes home from the Army to take it over again," she declared, as she hopped into the cab of her truck and drove away with the technique of an experienced operator.

CALLS ON CUSTOMERS

Clad in jumper suit, leather jacket and work hat, Phyllis has made herself acquainted with some 600 customers on the Cardone route.

"It was pretty discouraging," she told this reporter.

"Everyone wants oil—and most of them need it badly. No matter how much oil I get, I'm going to try to distribute it evenly among the customers, poor souls.

"One family had several children and not a single drop of oil—they were all bundled up in overcoats and blankets—shivering.

War Today

JAPS' ALL-OUT DRIVE

By GLENN BABB

The long dormant Pacific front has flamed again into grim, terrible battle. Warships and warplanes have been in action from the Aleutians almost to the tropic of Capricorn in another round of the contest for mastery of the Pacific and its archipelagoes.

The series of sea and air fights which our Navy says have been in progress for several days may be as decisive in the course of our conflict with Japan as Russia's epic victory at Stalingrad should be in the war against Germany.

It is obvious the Japanese have thrown a great concentration of sea and air power against our foothold in the Solomons and the line of bases to the south and east. Clearly they are prepared to gamble heavily for a victory which would enable them to recover Guadalcanal and resume the island to island advance which was interrupted when the Marines landed there last August.

That interruption threw their whole master plan of Pacific strategy out of gear. The high command at Tokyo, in which the admirals have great influence, evidently is convinced that if only the communications between the vast American arsenal and the Australian base of operations can be cut, the task of holding the "greater East Asia so-prosperity sphere" will be greatly simplified.

If the Japanese cannot do that they face almost certain defeat in the end since, without the tremendous geographical advantage this would give them, they cannot hope to match the tremendous weight of ships, planes, weapons of all kinds which the United States eventually will be able to concentrate against them.

TURKEY LOSES FEAR OF NAZIS

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (INS)—Prime Minister Churchill is understood to have reported to President Roosevelt that Turkey has lost its fear of Germany.

Authoritative sources today said Churchill gathered this impression from his conference with President Ismet Inonu.

Churchill is understood to have sent a report to the President on his talks with the Turkish leaders almost immediately after he returned to Cairo from Turkey.

As a result of the Churchill-Inonu talks, the view prevails in authoritative quarters that Turkey still wishes to maintain neutrality in the world conflict, but is determined to fight if Hitler attempts to move through Turkish territory in a drive into the Near East.

There also is a strong belief in official and diplomatic quarters that Turkey will now fight even if the Germans should attempt to by-pass that country, with a seaborne invasion into Syria.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Saves You Big Dollars, and It's So Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

SEA SAGA OF 15 ON 2 RAFTS RIVALS RICKENBACKER EPIC

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

Boston American and International News Service Staff Correspondent
Author of the Best Seller, "Guadalcanal Diary"

A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, Feb. 3 (INS)—Another almost unbelievable story of the sea, in which an American Air Force general and 14 companions marooned in two rubber boats for six nights and five days kept alive with the help of a handful of shrimps found in the craw of an albatross, came to light today.

The adventure, paralleling in many respects that of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, was told at this far-off United States naval and air force base in an official announcement disclosing the dramatic rescue of Brig.-Gen. N. F. Twining, commander of the United States 13th Air Force, his party of five and a Flying Fortress crew of nine other men.

Rescued after the plane which first located them lost contact in a howling storm, the 15 men were brought to a base hospital here on Feb. 1.

They were crowded into two six-man rubber rafts when they were discovered by two Flying Fortresses.

RAN OUT OF GAS

Their plane became lost and ran out of gas over the Coral sea 200 miles southwest of the base following a flight from Guadalcanal.

With Gen. Twining, whose home is in Charlotte, N. C., were Col. Glen C. Jamison, his chief of staff of Washington and four others whose names have not yet been revealed.

The plane was piloted by a Capt. Woodruff.

The rescue was effected by two Navy Catalina flying boats after the Fortresses spotted the rubber craft drifting at sea.

Search for the missing men was directed personally by Maj.-Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding general of the Army forces of the South Pacific. Gen. Twining formerly was Gen. Harmon's chief of staff. Gen. Harmon's home is in Washington.

Capt. Edward B. Twining, brother of the rescued general, a Fortress pilot, himself searched tirelessly for the lost party until he broke down from the strain.

PLANE SINKS QUICKLY

All 15 of the rescued men were virtually unharmed save for sunburned faces, hands and feet and the inevitable ravages of long exposure to the elements. Col. Jamison suffered the fracture of a small bone in one hand when caught in a rope binding two of the life-rafts. One member of the crew, whose name was not disclosed, also sustained an injured hand in the crash landing.

The plane sank within 30 seconds after hitting the water at 10:27 p. m. on Jan. 26.

During the time they were afloat, the only food available to the officers and men were one small bar of chocolate, one bottle of vitamin pills and a small can of sardines.

Once again, as on previous occasions, the wild birds of the Pacific came to the rescue. Two albatrosses came within pistol range, were killed and eaten in their entirety with sole exception of feathers, beak and claws.

"The most pleasant part of it," Col. Jamison said, "was that we found four shrimps in the stomach of one of the birds.

"They made good eating.

FIGHT OFF SHARKS

"We kept ourselves cool under the tropic sun by frequent 'dunkings' off the side of the rafts and fought off any sharks that came near by with a handy paddle."

The group made their way from the sinking plane by way of the top hatch. It was no lack of forethought that put them on the ocean with insufficient rations—just another of those bad breaks. The crewman carrying the rations was hit by a swinging gun turret that stunned him and caused him to drop the package.

He made his own escape but the food went to the bottom.

The canteen and a half of water available to the men was rationed scrupulously, as was the tin of sardines, working out to half a fish each. Fish-hooks were salvaged, but no catch was made owing to the absence of bait.

On the morning of Sunday, Jan. 31, the Fortress piloted by Lieut. Bailey spotted the rafts after Gen. Twining had fired a signal flare. Bailey dipped his wing down in token of recognition.

"It was the greatest moment of my life," Gen. Twining said.

However, a storm closed in and as its intensity mounted with the swiftness of Pacific storms contact was lost. Twining said he then felt that all were lucky to escape with their lives and that rescue was too much to be hoped for at the moment.

But the next day another Fortress spied the rafts again and summoned two Catalina PBY's, which dropped on the rough seas and took all the adventurers aboard. One of the Catalinas, piloted by Navy Lieut. Feddern, was so badly damaged in taking off on the mountainous waves it had to be beached on landing.

manders and political workers on the front for the excellent battle operations."

No special ceremonies marked the conquest. All over Moscow, it was business as usual. But millions scrambled eagerly for newspapers giving the details.

"Of course it is very great news," said a Russian friend of mine. "It cheers the heart of every Soviet citizen, but—and I hope you won't think me immodest—we expected it."

Newspapers said among 91,000 prisoners taken since Jan. 10 were more than 2500 officers.

The Soviet squeeze upon other German strongholds continued.

By taking Pavlovskaya (Sosyka), 75 miles south of Rostov on the Rostov-Baku railway, the Russians blocked off still another artery of Nazi communications, a branch railway line that juts northwestward to Yeisk, on the Sea of Azov.

Pressing upon Krasnodar, Nazi held city in the Kuban river valley, the Red army took the railway station of Korenkovskaya, 40 miles to the north, in a sweeping pincers action.

REDS PUSH DRIVE

The Russians strengthened their positions east of Kharkov, by retaking Pokrovskoye and Nizhe Duvanka, 11 and 13 miles north of Svatovo, the reoccupation of which was announced yesterday.

The Germans were still counter-attacking in some sectors, but the Russians declared they were smashing every such enemy effort.

Soviet planes bombed the airdrome of Voroshilovgrad, the Donets river industrial center last reported only 10 miles from the grasp of Russian ground troops.

Col.-Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's command, closing upon Rostov from the northeast, was credited with the recapture of 10 more populated points, but the announcement did not identify them.

Creation of a new badge for Soviet guerrilla fighters was announced. It bears portraits of Lenin and Stalin and the inscription "For Our Soviet Fatherland."

firmation, information from American sources being only that a series of air and sea fights had been under way for several days.

Reports from Australia indicated that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes were taking part in the battle by raiding enemy bases on New Britain island.

Until the direction of the Japanese moves becomes more definitely known, authorities said, their immediate strategy cannot be determined. Their general purpose undoubtedly is to maneuver defending American forces into such positions that heavy reinforcements can be delivered to their beleaguered troops on Guadalcanal.

Th latest battle is the seventh of the Solomons campaign, which began with American invasion of the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area Aug. 7. Of the previous six, however, only three involved forces proportionate in size to the indicated strength of the fleets now engaged.

The three largest previous battles were one fought considerably eastward of the Solomons Aug. 23-25; the Battle of Santa Cruz Islands, Oct. 26; and the Battle of Guadalcanal, Nov. 13-15.

U. S. FORCES PREPARED

The American high command has felt certain that sooner or later a new enemy offensive would be launched, and Secretary Knox made it clear late in November that American plans were being made accordingly.

In view of Knox's statements then, and also of more recent assurances from him and other high Navy officials that the American hold on the southeastern Solomons was secure, authorities said today that a considerable naval force undoubtedly had been concentrated in readiness for the Jap thrust.

The Japanese, these authorities said, would normally expect such a concentration and would try to put against it an even larger number of ships. It is believed they have two or three more aircraft carriers than the United States had left from its original force of seven, four of which were sunk last year.

This would not be a clear advantage, even if they chose to risk them, however, for the carriers which the Japs lost at Midway and in the Coral Sea battle were their biggest and best and, moreover, some of those which remained afloat were badly damaged.

Another factor offsetting any numerical advantage they might have in "floating airfields" is American possession of the base on Guadalcanal which, in the circumstances, becomes a sort of "unsinkable" carrier. Also, the American forces have the assistance of planes from Gen. MacArthur's Australian command, particularly those based in northeastern New Guinea.

The nearest Japanese land bases are in the Munda area of the central Solomons, about 190 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

The Japs' choice of Guadalcanal as their first objective suggests they are still concerned primarily with an attempt to reach the string of island bases—the New Hebrides, Fijes and Samoans—which guard the communication lines to Australia.

EAGER HUNDREDS RUSH TO JOIN WAACS, WAVES AND SPARS

ute to the newly enlisted WAACS, WAVES and SPARS, in which famed entertainers of the service and civilian ranks will participate.

And at this celebration the "wish" of three girls will come true—their wish, not only to serve their country in time of need, but to have the honor of being chosen the ideal WAAC, WAVE and SPAR of New England.

An added inspiration to the recruiting drive, the three famed women leaders of each branch of services will be guest speakers of honor at a luncheon of the Boston Advertising Club, to be held Feb. 9 at the Hotel Statler at 12:15. The three are Col. Oveta Culp Hobby of the WAACS, Lieut.-Commdr. Mildred H. McAfee of the WAVES, and Lieut.-Commdr. Dorothy Stratton of the SPARS.

The Advertising Club luncheon will be open to the public. Following the luncheon, the three leaders of women in service will pay a personal visit to the recruiting office at 5 Winthrop sq.

EAGER RESPONSE

So spontaneous and eager has been the response to this drive that many young girls who are under age have applied in the mistaken belief that they may join if they have consent of their parents. Unfortunately, the minimum age for enlistment in the WAACS is 21, and for WAVES and SPARS, 20.

One applicant, now 19, sought to join any one of the three services, but was informed she must wait a few months until she has reached 20. She is Miss Phyllis Davis, secretary to Mayor Cornelius E. O'Brien of North Adams. She writes:

"I should like to be considered an applicant for either the WAACS, WAVES or SPARS, inasmuch as I am wholeheartedly in accord with what these organizations indoctrinate. My fiance, not unlike so many others, is just another one of the boys serving under Uncle Sam in the armed forces and I think it is the duty of every patriotic American citizen to do as much as is humanly possible to expedite the termination of this war. I shall do anything, anything at all, that could be benefical to the defense of our democracy."

READ CAREFULLY

All would-be applicants are advised to read carefully the coupon accompanying this article, and also the chart showing qualifications for enlistment. The coupon may be mailed or brought in person to the Women's Recruiting Office, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, and must be accompanied by a letter of not more than 50 words, telling why the applicant wishes to join the WAVES, WAACS or SPARS.

"VICTORY SPIRIT"

Here is another letter testifying to the "victory spirit" of the applicants. This is from a young woman seeking enlistment with the SPARS:

"I would like to be a SPAR because it seems to be the most logical way for me to do my part in the country's great war effort. I will be able to replace an ablebodied man for active duty. I have a brother who is P. F. C. in the Marine Corps stationed somewhere in the Pacific. My husband is in the Navy.

'I am 24 years old and have worked as a telephone operator for four years. I also can type.

"My country comes first, and if I am able to relieve a man for cambat duty, I am doing my share to help win the war.

"I've liked being a free citizen, and want to remain a free citizen."

Capt. Keppler Lauds Recruiting Drive

Capt. C. H. J. Keppler, director of officer procurement for New England, said after visiting the recruiting office of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser:

"I am very glad that the Boston Record-American is co-operating with the WAVES recruiting campaign in New England and wish to thank them. Certainly the WAVES and SPARS offer a grand opportunity for service for any New England girl who can qualify. We have tried to staff the recruiting office at 5 Winthrop sq. with competent recruiters, qualified to answer any questions that may concern enlistment in the Women's Naval or Coast Guard Reserve. These women are there to serve you. It is hoped you will feel free to call on them for any information you may desire on WAVES and SPARS."

Maria Montez Technicolor Hit In 'Arabian Nights' at Memorial

By JOYCE DANA

This time Scherherazade is not the daughter of the grand vizier who marries the caliph of Bagdad and escapes the fate of his innumerable former wives by telling him the tall tales that makes up "Arabian Nights."

Now she's Maria Montez, and gorgeous and glamorous enough for anybody's thousand and one nights of story-telling. She's a dancing girl who wants to be queen in Walter Wanger's spectacular riot of Technicolor at the Keith Memorial.

But before that none-too-modest ambition of a little carnival entertainer is fulfilled, there have been palace plots and dark intrigue, attempted murders, the fine play of spears and stilettos, torture on the rack, the slave block and even a faint flavor of the Hope-Crosby jaunts over desert sands. For Sinbad and Aladdin turn out to be a couple of comics.

Ali-Ben-Ali is the bronzed and handsome elephant boy, Sabu, an acrobat in Maria's troupe, and a loyal subject of Caliph Jon Hall, whose wicked brother, Leif Erickson, covets not only the throne, but the lady as well.

So Jon is whisked to a desert hide-away by Sabu and the reluctant Maria (she doesn't know he's the Caliph), presided over by sneezing Billy Gilbert.

There he's nursed back to health, and loses, under violent protest, his fine, black beard. Much handsomer, though, and Maria doesn't know it, but she's falling in love.

But the story, as crammed as it is with fact action, is subordinate to the sheer and fantastic beauty the cameras have caught. The harem dancing girls (including, if you look close, Peggy La Rue Satterlee of the headlines) are soothing to see, Shemp Howard's Sinbad, worrying all who'll give ear about his stupendous sailing exploits, John Qualen's pathetic Aladdin (he's lost his lamp!) and that rousing brother-against-brother finale, lend the whole thing an out-of-this world fairy-tale quality that's a delight for children, and for you and you, if you want to get away from it all.

It does put the lovely Montez another step toward Universal's star brackets, too. She's a gift to Technicolor.

"Strictly in the Groove," brings us right back to A. D. 1943 on the other half of the Memorial bill. Leon Errol and Shemp Howard are the funny boys in this one.

Greta Garbo's Fame Spreads to Egypt

There is apparently no bounds to the screen's influence.

Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent for Colliers, and author of "The Wounded Don't Cry," tells of his initial visit to the Pyramids of Egypt. There, he thought, he would surely escape at least for the moment, western civilization.

As his guide helped him from the back of his mount, Reynolds asked, "What do you call your camel?" "Greta Garbo, sir," replied the guide.

BILLIE BURKE WINS WARM WELCOME IN 'THIS ROCK'

By PEGGY DOYLE

It must be so nice to come home to the theater, after devoting a decade to being one of the screen's brightest comediennes, and find yourself so heartily welcomed as was the enchanting Billie Burke last night at the Plymouth.

It was the sort of reception Hub firstnighters generally reserve for the Lunts, the arresting Miss Hepburn and a few other of their footlight pets.

Miss Burke, who must be experiencing some nostalgic twinges with the presence here of the new "Ziegfeld Follies," was touched to the point of making a brief curtain speech of gratitude . . . and of apology for muffing a few lines of playwright Walter Livingston Faust's new comedy, "This Rock."

Of course, Miss Burke knew, before she was on the stage 10 minutes, that she had the customers in the palm of her dainty, fluttering hand, just as she had the members of the distinguished Stanley household (handsomely realized by set-designer Watson Booratt) bordering on England's River Tyne.

BRIGHT SPOT IN PLAY

With her pale red-gold halo of curls, her delicate loveliness, her birdbrain twitterings, she is the brightest spot in this rather somber play of present-day England and its class conflicts.

Its author was for eight years the English representative of one of our biggest oil companies and may be said to write with the note of authenticity.

That his play does not resolve itself more satisfactorily is hardly surprising, since more famed playwrights than he have found the subject one that stubbornly resists transference to script form.

"This Rock" tries to tell too much . . . and probably too soon. The audience's preference for Billie Burke's amusing vaporings over the class conscious discussions by more serious characters in the cast was marked.

WARTIME CHOICE

From where we sat, it seemed that the war would have to be in the background before a play of any authority could be written about the social barriers it has erased. For the duration, we'll take our plays tougher or funnier . . . either all-out realism, for instance, Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark," or 100 per cent escapist, meaning none other than the Ethel Merman-starring honey, "Something for the Boys."

Broadway's theater-wise Eddie Dowling has given "This Rock" an excellent production. The cast couldn't have been chosen with greater skill. The 20 evacuee children-victims of the Luftwaffe's East End bombings . . . it is these youngsters who humanize the aristocratic, self-centered British family of Stanleys the while they themselves are being disinfected and rafeened . . . are delightfully natural, notably 11-year-old Alastair Kyle, who is in real life an evacuee from blitzed London.

HAS RADIO CAREER

The lad, who has had a brief but brilliant radio career before his current assignment, is a fine, young actor with none of that little-man precociousness associated with one of his scant years.

And in this summation of skills, there must be a generous mead of praise for Jane Sterling, a pretty blonde youngster who had her beginnings at Cohasset's summer theater, and Zachary Scott, who reluctantly find themselves romantically involved as the plot proceeds.

Nicholas Joy, as the father of the one and the prospective father-in-law of the other, flavors his impersonation with graciousness and warmth.

—GIVE TO THE UNITED WAR FUND—

THAT'S FOR ROMANCE

That cigaret-lighting stunt Paul Henreid pulls with Bette Davis in Warner Bros.' "Now, Voyager" was his own suggestion, but not his own idea. It's an old Viennese custom and means romance.

Rita Hayworth Stars in Film At Trans-Lux

Rita Hayworth, co-starred with Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the picture that put her on the top of the heap, "Angel of Broadway," lends glamour to the Trans-Lux screen currently.

"You Can't Beat the Law," starring Edward Norris and Joan Woodbury and featuring Jack LaRue, is the co-feature. It is a melodrama involving prison reform through the regeneration of a playboy, played by Norris.

Under suspicion of complicity in a robbery and framed by the crooks responsible, Norris goes to the penitentiary, determined to avenge himself upon his framers, and becomes known as a nonconformist.

Efforts of the warden to win his support for reforms he is introducing fail until, cleared of the robbery charge by a dying criminal, he swings to the side of law and becomes a jailor.

Ultimate proof of his conversion and of the value of reform methods comes when he thwarts a jail-break.

Milburn Stone, as the warden, and LaRue, as the incorrigible inmate, head the supporting cast.

Lovely Linda Darnell heads the cast of Columbia's "Prison City Without Men," now on the Normandie screen. Others in the cast are Leslie Brooks, Glenda Farrell, Sarah Allgood and Doris Dudley, all good actresses.

Sheehan Will Film Rickenbacker's Life

Winfield R. Sheehan will produce a feature based on the life of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the latter disclosed in a statement just released through Christy Walsh. Arrangements will be handled jointly by Sheehan and Walsh, a friend of the World War I hero for many years. Rickenbacker's statement said that he had agreed to the filming "following a year of consideration based on frequent requests from my friends in the War Department and elsewhere."

'STAR SPANGLED RHYTHM' STARTS 2ND WEEK AT MET

"Star Spangled Rhythm," the big Paramount musical comedy that features more than 40 top ranking Hollywood stars, enters its second week at the Metropolitan tomorrow. "Truck Busters," the associate feature, with Richard Travis and Virginia Christine, will also be held over.

Definitely the field day of field days for movie fans, "Star Spangled Rhythm" boasts among its players Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Victor Moore, Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard, Veronica Lake, Vera Zorina, Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Alan Ladd, and Rochester.

Among the others are Jerry Colonna, William Bendix, MacDonald Carey, Walter Abel, Susan Hayward, Marjorie Reynolds, Betty Rhodes, Dona Drake, Lynne Overman, Cass Daley and Gil Lamb.

The story of "Star Spangled Rhythm" concerns the efforts of a Paramount studio gateman, Victor Moore, and telephone operator, Betty Hutton, to build themselves up to Moore's sailor son, Eddie Bracken, by deceiving him into believing that the father is head of the studio.

The film features seven brand new hit tunes, including "That Old Black Magic," "Sharp as a Tack," "Old Glory," "A Sweater, a Sarong, and a Peek-a-Boo Bang," "I'm Doing It For Defense," "On the Swing Shift," and "Hit the Road to Dreamland," all of them written by Harold Arley and Johnny Mercer.

—GIVE TO THE UNITED WAR FUND—

United Nations Night Program

United Nations Night will be celebrated at Keith Memorial Theater tonight, at 8:45 as the inaugural of the theater's 15th anniversary celebration.

There will be special dances and songs by representatives of all the United Nations, costumed in their picturesque native garb. This is to be the first of a series of elaborately planned entertainment honoring the Keith Memorial's 15th birthday.

COSTUME CHANGES

For her role of Liza Elliott in "Lady in the Dark," Ginger Rogers in the beginning of the picture is dressed in mannish, severe gowns and towards the end, to symbolize the character's mental change, bursts forth in the most beautiful costumes Hollywood designing ingenuity can devise.

MOTHER HELPS OUT

She doesn't receive screen credit, but Mrs. Carolyn Cagney, James' mother, had a lot to do with Jimmy's dancing in "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Mrs. Cagney knew George M. Cohan well, and is also rated one of the few experts on that late, great star's dancing style.

HAMS ON THE HOOF

For his "Story of Dr. Wassell," C. B. DeMille is "searching" for 10 of the wildest, meanest, ugliest razorback hogs in the country and has offered $100 apiece for winning candidates. He requests photographs of all entrants be mailed to him for judgment.

YOUR FUND DOLLAR FUTURE INSURANCE

By AUSTEN LAKE

Months ago the writer was passing a bomb-barricaded children's hospital in Dover, England. The flat, orderly sacks of earth which protected the facade had become a vertical garden of yellow daffodils, pink columbine and blue harebells, all growing through the porous sacking in a sweet profusion. It seemed a novel idea.

"No idea at all," explained Captain Bill Able, my Canadian escort. "It's a kind of symbol. You see, last winter the hospital ran out of sand, so it seemed easiest to fill the sacks with soil from the nearby public gardens In the moist climate the bags protected the building throughout the winter But when spring came green shoots began to sprout through the course webbing and made them an impromptu garden. It just happened."

SHELL OF CHURCH

Across the lane there was the shell of an Anglican church, its buttresses reeling like stumps of arms, its roof open to the sky. On the door, as a kind of text, the pastor had chalked a legend. It read, "Today's seed is in the soil of tomorrow."

It WAS symbolic. For irrepressible nature had demonstrated to war-harried humanity that its seedling roots, cultivated in the past, had survived through adversity to bloom again. The immutable orbit of life was continuing on both sides of the wall. Inside the little hospital new-born infants were mewling. It was a parable of eternal life.

And what has this to do with Boston's United War Fund for a much needed $7,800,000? The answer is obvious

Today's seeds are in the soil for tomorrow. As we cultivate now so shall our garden grow. For the end of this war is not the terminal point of human hope. What shall tomorrow's harvest be?

The seedling roots are your dollars. The head gardener is the United War Fund, a kind of Greater Boston papa over four deputy gardeners, all members of the fund family which bears the names of (1) Greater Boston Community, (2) United Service Organization, (3) Special War Activities, (4) United Nations Relief.

Each cultivates an allotted plot of social soil wherein to sew your seedling dollars, of which Papa UWF takes less than 5 per cent for administration needs.

For example, the Community Fund spreads $5,488,064 over 235 health and welfare centers, including care and treatment for children in 17 hospitals; nursing and nutrition in 13 health agencies; care for sick, neglected, illegitimate and underpriveleged children in 12 agencies; aid to distressed families in 12 bureaus; development and character guidance in 15 youth groups; help for the feeble and socially handicapped in 11 centers. There is much more.

Would you call that a garden?

Well then, 1,090,287 of your seeds go to the USO to provide a normal, sound outlet of emotion and play-instinct for every mother's footloose soldier-son who had a few idle hours and needs guidance away from the chump-traps, mischief marts and sucker-pockets which are an ugly weed growth in any city.

AIDS PRISONERS

Another $333,843 goes to the Social War Activities Committee to help soften the hapless and helpless lot of American war prisoners who live close to mental and spiritual zero and to whom a deck of playing cards is equivalent to Christmas, a clean undershirt equal to a month in the mountain and a food package like a free trip to Florida. For to such men,

And would you call that a garden of tomorrow?

Lastly, but not leastly, 887,806 of your cash granules go to the Tiny Tims and Puny Portias of Britain, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Greece, Holland, Norway, Poland, Russia and Yugoslavia. For the new world is sure to be a broad gauge relationship and the foreign children of today are our neighbors of tomorrow to whom America gleams as a candlelight of virtue in a dark and sordid world.

That is our garden of today. The crop is Democracy, of which we sometimes talk too much and do too little.

Now let us plant for tomorrow. Send in your seed.

Gold Star ★ Heroines

By PAULINE WARREN

IN PRE-WAR DAYS, many countries were taught to believe the propaganda disseminated by Hitler:

"America," said Der Fuehrer's Face, "is too soft to be dangerous, despite its wealth and size. Women rule the country and they will never give up their sons to shoulder guns. They're so spoiled and sheltered they care only about their own comfort. They'll cheat, use tricks, do everything to keep their sons away from any fighting."

With no other comment we give you the plain unvarnished story of an American gold star mother, Mrs. Mary F. McHale of Lark st., South Boston.

Mrs. McHale is slim, kind and extremely self-reliant. She gives the impression of being a woman seldom given to tears. If things go wrong, she's more apt to be angry than weepy. The house pet, "Nippy," a small white dog, constantly washed and brushed to snowy whiteness, worships her and is her inseparable companion wherever she goes.

Like many Americans, who stubbornly refuse to be cowed by misfortune, she lives with pride and independence. It's impossible to imagine anyone telling Mrs. McHale what or how to think. Her ideas are absolutely her own—she hasn't much time for reading books, but she follows the newspapers closely.

But Mrs. McHale was very rich in one thing—she had a fine stalwart son—a handsome youngster on whom she had pinned many hopes. She even gave him a resounding name—a name to sound well when he reached the very top of the heap—a name with a lot of initials—John J. W. McHale. Didn't that sound fine?

He grew up sturdy in spirit and gave every promise of fulfilling the family dreams. Now, perhaps, the family would see better days.

Then came Hitler's propaganda. It troubled him.

"Is that true, Mom? Would you try to keep me home, earning your living instead of fighting, if we were at war with that ghoul who says those things about us?"

Then came Pearl Harbor.

"The Marine Corps is what I want, Mom."

"Okay, son."

So it came about—the boy of his mother's dreams was the first graduate of the South Boston High School to give his life for his country. Where did he die?

You might guess—where the fighting was extra hot— at Guadalcanal.

And Mrs. McHale—the soft American mother? All the sacrifices she invested in that son she loved so much are now cancelled. how does she feel?

"I wish," she said, with a burning, implacable anger in her eyes, "I wish I had more sons to send into the fight. If VICTORY must be bought with their blood, then let it be bought, even at that price.

PVT. JOHN J. W. McHALE

Killed in Action

"My son may be dead, but he's not alone. Here is a letter I received yesterday from my young nephew:

"'Dear Aunt Mary:

"'Words cannot express the sorrow and deep sympathy I have for you. True, Aunt Mary, you lost a good son and I the best friend I had back home, but I've learned from his Marine buddies that he died fighting and, I hope, not in vain for fate has brought me to the same battlefield to do my very best to avenge him.

"'I paid my respects and said a prayer over his place of burial. As you know, war is hell—and we all hope it will be over soon. I've been away so long from South Boston I've forgotten who I know and what things look like back there.

"'Love,

"'RICHARD.'

"That boy is now the nearest thing I have to a son," said Mrs. McHale. "I wish I had more sons to send to fight beside him."

And Hitler thinks American women are soft!

They never fail who die
In a great cause: the block may soak their gore;
Their heads may sodden in the sun; their limbs
Be strung to city gates and castle walls
But still their spirit walks abroad.
—BYRON.

TAKE ANY CITY BLOCK in any city in the country and I'll bet you 10 to 1 you can't find two store clocks on it that register the same time. I won 10 cigars on this bet a few days ago. There were three clocks on the block chosen; one registered 20 minutes after 10, another 5 minutes after 11 and another 25 minutes after 3. The right time was 11 o'clock. When the war is over this department will vigorously resume its bitter campaign No. 3764d, which is for municipally owned clocks on every corner that as accurate timekeepers are in the class with London's "Big Ben."

DAUGHTERS: Mr. and Mrs. Breimer of La Harpe, Ill., have 10 daughters and no sons. The last daughter was born Dec. 7, 1942. Ten daughters and no sons is the Illinois record. It is generally conceded that daughters are much more expensive to bring up than sons. However, female children are usually more appreciative and loyal than male offspring. As the poet put it:

Your son is your son
Until he gets him a wife,
But your daughter is your daughter
All of her life.

PLEASE NOTE: As a source of innocent merriment my girl friend and I decided to learn to play duets with a banjo and a guitar. However, she wants to play the banjo and so do I. Tonight we are going to toss a coin to see who gets to play the banjo . . . After the war men will be able to fly with the aid of mechanical wings. That's what one scientist claims. Imagine a man getting ready to start to work in the morning calling out to his wife: "Honey, where did you put my wings?" Also consider how interesting it would be to see a winged Mayor La Guardia flying after the fire engines . . . Some girls who should wear glasses do not because they fear the spectacles will have an adverse effect on their otherwise glamorous appearance. Other near-sighted girls go halfway and use lorgnettes. The always glamorous Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, however, does not hesitate to use glasses whenever necessary.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Henry Kaiser, the construction engineering genius, was the first contractor to use rubber tired wheelbarrows. Opposition contractors laughed at Henry's fancy equipment but it moved twice as much sand with much less effort than the old-fashioned wheelbarrows . . . What do you use as a conclusion to your letters? I have heard of an old preacher who concludes all his letters: "God bless your generosity in everything you undertake" . . . Proudly writes a young matron of Chicago: "Our daughter Charlene had six teeth at the age of 5 months. She was crawling at 4 months, standing at 5½ months and walking at 6½ months. At 16 months of age she was climbing fences. At her present age of 20 months she is still climbing fences, but they are higher fences."

PASSING BY: Renny Renfrew, Hollywood dog trainer. Conducts a dog college where canines are instructed in house etiquette. A distinguished student at Mr. Renfrew's college right now is Rita Hayworth's dog, who is taking a course in apartment house living etiquette. This course is of two months' duration . . . Mike Todd, Musical comedy impresario. Asked the reason for a recent visit to Hollywood, Mr. Todd said: "I went there to get some chorus boys for my new shows." Hollywood is quite a center of the chorus boy industry. One film company has 40 gentlemen of the ensemble under contract. We often hear the names of the original Floradora Sextette girls. But who remembers who the six men were who first sang "Tell Me Pretty Maiden, Are There Any More at Home Like You" to the original Floradora girls?

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q—My husband's name is Frank. How can I name my girl baby after him? A—How about calling her Francesco? Q—Could you control your prejudices as to cats long enough to name six celebrated persons who owned and loved cats? My little girl is writing a composition called "Cats." A—Listen, lady, I am not prejudiced against cats. I just like dogs better. As for six celebrated owners I can name Sir Isaac Newton, Cardinal Richelieu, Dante, Clemenceau, Lenin and Sir Oliver Lodge. Sir Oliver never had less than 12 cats in his house.

ASIDES: One way to tell whether a man is a Chinese or a Jap is to ask him to say: "Very sorry." If he is Chinese he will say: "Velly Solly." If a Jap he will say: "Very jorry." There is no "L" in the Japanese language.

SIDELIGHTS: A Navy wife told me that during the first three years she was married she lived in 14 different houses in as many different towns. She said that a half-hour after her marriage her husband received orders to join his ship and she didn't see him again for six months . . . As to America's oldest restaurant, it must be Durgin & Parks in Boston, which is 153 years old.

DISCUSSES CLOTHING RATIONING SYSTEM IN GREAT BRITAIN

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, TUESDAY—I had a number of appointments yesterday so my morning in New York city was very crowded. I enjoyed being at the Junior League for luncheon, and was extremely glad not to be removed from the plane by some military necessity, for in that case I would have had to arrive rather late in Washington for our family reunion.

I certainly was most anxious to see my husband and hear all the things which one cannot put on paper and which one never hears, if one does not hear them very soon after they happen.

In writing my column the other day describing the USO club I visited, I abbreviated so much that I apparently gave no recognition to the people who are running USO clubs.

I REALIZE, OF COURSE, quite well, that these clubs are now run by a committee of management, serviced by volunteers, except for a paid director and, occasionally, an assistant director, a director of programs and a superintendent of the building itself.

Volunteer workers have innumerable committees and carry very important and exacting work. In writing about the management of one of their USO buildings, I casually said a committee of men in the armed services showed me around. That grew out of the fact that in Great Britain, in every Red Cross club, there is a committee of service men.

Naturally, it changes as men are ordered to different places and only functions in conjunction with the permanent committee. This small committee of men, however, is the liaison whereby the likes and dislikes and the desires of the men are made clear to the civilian committees.

IN ADDITION TO THIS, at this same USO, in speaking before the Monmouth County, New Jersey, social welfare meeting, I tried to explain the system by which clothes are distributed in Great Britain, and evidently did it very badly. I want to take this opportunity to tell the people of this country that every individual in Great Britain receives a certain number of coupons and every article of clothing, when bought, reduces these coupons by whatever the government says each article is worth in coupons.

You may pay more for your garment, but you turn in the same number of coupons. When new things are sent over from here, or from any other source, nobody pays for them, they are given to the people. If they are new, the people are required to turn in their coupons.

OUR SECOND HAND CLOTHING has been of great assistance, because it can be obtained without payment or without coupons.

For people who are bombed out, this is a tremendous advantage, because even though the government recognizes their need for extra coupons, there are never enough for a complete wardrobe. That is one reason why the British people are so grateful to the people of the United States for the good quality second hand garments which have come over. They have filled a real need.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—The Victor Matures' divorce will be final Feb. 9 in Las Vegas. She'll head immediately for New York—and soon after that, for the altar again . . . Peggy Fears is ailing at the Park East Hospital . . . Cliff Edwards, the comic, and Yvonne Hudson, Buddy De Sylva's secretary, are sniffing orange blossoms . . . The Robert Stevensons—he's the film director, she's Anna Lee, the screen heroine—have Reno in the bean-o . . . Jack Topping's current biggest interest is Grayce Martin, the beautiful showgirl . . Alexander Woollcott bequeathed his Vermont home and the bulk of his estate to Joseph Hennessey, his secretary . . Eddie Rickenbacker will make the major plea for the Red Cross drive in a motion picture short produced by Sol Lesser . . . Constance Bennett is ailing at the Waldorf — strep throat.

THE JERRY HORWINS (he authored Barrymore's "My Dear Children") are knitting tiny garments . . One of the gowns in Ginger Rogers' trousseau has a skirt and train of mink! . . . George Raft, who is so much in love with Betty Grable, will have another conference with his long-estranged wife's attorneys, to try and arrange a divorce . . . Joan Caulfield, the blonde who is seen so frequently with George Abbott in the rhumba spots, has snagged the leading role in his next show.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE HEADACHES TODAY were not confined to such nightclub habitues as may have overindulged . . . Married men of draftable age with or without children among musicians and entertainers, were suffering from the sudden impact of Paul McNutt's first bombshell . . It was a "block-buster," to continue the analogy with headaches . . . For Mr. McNutt's directive on non-deferrable occupations mentioned nightclubs specifically . . . As the horntooters and string-strummers reported for work, resignation to the edict was general.

PIANISTS WERE LAMENTING the probable effect of shipyard work on their sensitive hands, and musicians generally were considering the harm lack of steady work might play on their particular talents . . . One of the brothers, however, got the cheering word from an unidentified lawyer that radio work would qualify a musician as an "essential worker" . . . Word of this buoying interpretation spread rapidly . . . Nearly every good musician gets a crack at radio work in the course of a year . . . But this rise in spirits was short-lived . . . Radio work, to be deferrable, is supposed to involve labor with the communication of news or government bulletins, it was declared.

DISCUSSION OF THE McNUTT directive was not, of course, confined to the gentlemen who are employed in the town's glitter-spots. (But that's our "beat") . . . Nor must it be imagined that there is a lack of patriotism in the ranks of James C. Petrillo's dues-payers . . . Musicians and entertainers who work with skilled hands have slightly different problems . . . A pianist, for instance, requires constant practice to keep his standing . . . Injury to a digit, whether from a wound or laborious work, might ruin a top flight pianist for life . . . All musicians are careful of their hands, because pliable fingers are necessary in nearly every instrument, including the horns and reeds

MOST MUSICIANS and entertainers place directly in the draftable classes . . . Most of them are married, and a majority are fathers . . . Some estimates had it that more than 3000 musicians and entertainers were affected in Massachusetts alone . . . The boom in the amusement business, which has seen widespread unemployment, has been of short duration . . . Dependents have tied a majority of the entertainers and musicians to their civilian jobs . . . Those who were of a mind to enlist had, for the most part, taken the oath of service to Uncle Sam . . . The others had settled back to await the bidding of their respective draft boards, and were placed in the 3-A or 4-F classifications, in the main . . . It was a quiet, pre-occupied sort of night along the Rialto.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Relative to the above, here's a tip to girls with real musical talent . . . First, of course, there's the marvellous chance to become a WAAC, a WAVE, a SPAR, or a GIRL MARINE . . . Enlistment being impossible for some vital reason, group yourselves together, girls, in an orchestra . . . If you play the piano, the opportunities are particularly plentiful . . . Girl piano teams—good ones, of course—are in terrific demand . . . Many nightclubs in the U. S. A. will be looking for female orchestras before this war is ended . . . There may even be a need for bargirls before the March on Berlin and Tokyo.

CY STEWART, brother of Bill Stewart, the umpire, has been elected top union delegate at an important war plant in Hingham . . . John Gillooly, the good sports-writer, isn't sure that he enjoyed the first anniversary dinner party of the Paul Comerfords of Brighton . . . John, being B. C. '30, learned too late that the conversational theme of the party was 55-12, the unforgettable score of that Holy Cross-Boston College game . . . Mr. Comerford is the Holy Cross football player of a few seasons ago.

WATCH FOR HEADLINES to be popping soon from the vicinity of a bustling little metropolis with a new acting mayor . . . It was a "reunion from Vienna" (the title of an old Robert E. Sherwood play) when Neil Phillips of the Satire Room caught up with George Czell at the Boston Symphony Concert . . . Czell was Neil's piano teacher in the Old World city that made the waltz famous . . . Mr. Phillips, by the way, was in Rotterdam when that tragic city was leveled by Heinie bombs . . . To get to the U. S. via Portugal took him nearly ten months.

IF THE "RIGHT BANDS" can be gotten, Chauncey Depew Steele will continue a policy of Saturday night dances in the Copley-Plaza's main ballrooms . . . The second Jack Teagarden appearance was a huge success . . . A famous old Boston hotel (not the Plaza we may be sure) will change either ownership or management in April . . . Conrad Aiken, the poet-essayist, and Professor of Musicology Pitkin of Harvard, and Robert Hillyer, the poet, gave the arts full representation at a cocktail-tea presided over by Mrs. William Bross Lloyd of the famous Chicago publishing family

SPECTACULAR NORTH AFRICA FILM NOW PLANNED

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3—When Sam Wood finishes "Saratoga Trunk" at Warners, he moves his megaphone over to Columbia—but not for "The Land Is Bright," as previously advertised. First, Sam will make a story he has just bought from Ann Morgan and Lorraine Noble, "Mission to Africa," based on the life and times of one Charles De Foucould, the man who explored North Africa and opened it up for the French in the late part of the 19th century.

The movie embraces the entire historical background of North Africa from that time up to the present day. If Sam gets government permission he will also include the meeting there of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Later, Sam will make the Edna Ferber-George Kaufman "The Land Is Bright" opus. The African story comes first because it is more timely.

DONNA REED

WHO SAYS A WOMAN can't keep a secret? Two months ago Donna Reed told the girls at the Hollywood Studio Club that she was taking a small apartment near the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio because of gas rationing. But what even her closest pals didn't know was that Donna and her bridegroom, Bill Tuttle, were furnishing a honeymoon apartment, which is their wedding gift to one another. So quietly were the young actress and the M-G-M makeup expert married that even the studio didn't know of their plans until a reporter checked on the story.

There won't be any honeymoon, though, for Donna goes immediately into "The Man From Down Under," with Charles Laughton, and the day after her wedding she was at the studio making a test for Bob Leonard and O. O. Dull, the co-producers.

REMEMBER we told you Mary Martin had the stage bee in her bonnet and just wouldn't be happy until she got back to Broadway? Well, come Feb. 9 Mary will be in New York starting rehearsals for Howard Dietz's new musical, "Dancing in the Streets," which Vinton Freedley is producing. Whether or not Mary is a little tired of the movies, I wouldn't be knowing. But the move looks permanent because her husband, Dick Halliday, and her two children are going along with her.

A LINE OR TWO: Martin Kosleck, who was almost blinded during a scene for "Chetnik" when a cartridge riccocheted and hit him in the eye, plays another Nazi heel in "Bombers Moon" with George Montgomery and Annabella. "Just a guy to shoot at again," sighs Martin . . . Michele Morgan goes to Universal for "Two Tickets to London," a mystery thriller which Edwin L. Marin produces and directs.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Ward Bond certainly got caught with, shall we say, his boxing gloves down! It seems Ward has a 15-year-old stepson named Duke and the other night Duke and his pals went to a neighborhood house and saw Ward as John L. Sullivan in "Gentleman Jim." They thought he was wonderful—so wonderful that ever since they have been hounding him to give them lessons. He has. But what the kids don't know is that poor "John L." Ward has quietly been taking boxing lessons himself in order to keep their illusions intact. What Ward doesn't know about boxing would fill Madison Square Garden.

During the last war Eric won that dubious title playing Huns, and now he is back again—launched on an equally despicable career as a Nazi. 20 Tricks That Save Minutes

By MARTHA LEE

SO BUSY with war work that you've just got to streamline your housekeeping? Yes, sir, if your voluntary bit for the war effort must be added to already crowded days, you are a busy, busy housekeeper. Unfortunately, those canned and packaged meal-quickies that make life easier are becoming scarcer and scarcer.

But there are still many little tricks that save a few minutes here, a few there, and at the end of the week add up to quite a comfortable bit of time-saving. For example, baking potatoes is quicker than paring for boiling and then mashing them, baked apples are less fussy than applesauce, and having the dry ingredients for griddle cakes already measured and mixed ahead will shorten the morning breakfast work.

KEEP COOKIE DOUGH ON HAND

A roll of refrigerator cookie dough tucked away for an emergency can be sliced and baked in a jiffy -- and how good the cookies taste, fresh from the oven and served with fruit for dessert. Spicy, fragrant gingerbread is a twinkling-of-an-eye job when there's gingerbread mix on hand. With a jar always ready in the refrigerator, you can have this treat as often as you wish.

PLANTATION GINGERBREAD

1 recipe of Plantation Gingerbread Basic Mix
1 cup molasses 1 cup boiling water
1 egg, beaten

Mix together the molasses and boiling water and add to the gingerbread mix. Stir until mixture is smooth, then add beaten egg. Bake in paper-lined pan 9x9x2 in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 minutes. Makes 16 servings.

GRIDDLE CAKES

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
3 tbsp. granulated sugar
¾ tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup milk
3 tbsp. melted fat or salad oil

Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Combine egg, milk and melted fat and add to dry ingredients all at once, beating with a spoon, or an electric beater at medium speed, until smooth. Drop batter from a tablespoon onto a hot griddle which has been greased or not, according to the manufacturers' directions. Spread cakes out lightly with the back of a spoon. Cook on one side until puffed, full of bubbles and cooked on the edges. Then turn and cook on the other side. Makes 11 cakes 4 inches in diameter. Serve immediately with butter and molasses.

BUTTERSCOTCH REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 tbsp. milk
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt

Work shortening with a spoon until fluffy and creamy. Add sugar gradually, while continuing to work with a spoon until light. Add well-beaten eggs, vanilla and milk, and mix thoroughly. Sift together the dry ingredients and gradually add, beating after each addition. Shape into a roll 12x1¾x1¼ inches. Wrap in waxed paper and chill for several hours or overnight in refrigerator. Then cut into slices 3-16 inches thick, and bake on greased or oiled cookie sheets in a moderately hot oven of 400 deg. F. for about 10 minutes. Makes 50 cookies.

This cookie dough may be wrapped in waxed paper and stored in the refrigerator for a week or more, and then sliced and baked as needed.

Beauty

New Deodorant Comes In Scents for Men, Too

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—You ought always to be sure of fresh immaculacy . . . and that goes for the men, as well as the girls, says Arline Gould, suggesting today a "double purpose fragrance" made in versions for both men and women. Marilyn Maxwell and Robert Taylor pose.

ONE OF THE MOST necessary tasks of grooming . . . control and neutralization of perspiration . . . has certainly turned out to be a fine art, and it's accomplished by the pleasantest, blandest of aids.

Consider a "double purpose perfume," which is an amber-tinted liquid like any other perfumed cologne . . . and which comes in an amazing range of scents, including at least five which have been created for the use of men!

It differs from regular perfumes in this way . . . its more important purpose of the two is to act as a perfect deodorant.

We haven't any statistics at hand, but we do know that men who use perspiration control aids of one type or another are increasing in number. And why not? They're a more certain, longer lasting way than any other, and protect fine shirts and woollens from the damaging effect of excess perspiration.

BLEND WITH REGULAR PERFUMES

Because the bottles of this "double purpose" deodorant are so simple, plain crystal with a crested ivory and gold label, they'll fit in with any masculine gadgets most unobtrusively. And the scents are typical . . . Russian leather, fern or clover, pine, and so on.

As for the gals, they really have a splurge of a list from which to choose. The scents are all intriguingly named, and as you investigate them you'll discover that some of them blend very well indeed with your favorite, most expensive regular perfumes. Then you ought to match up this extra-punctilious grooming aid to these perfumes . . . as well as branch out into a couple of new scents you'd never known before.

Choose particularly for sports clothes . . . since this form of deodorant gives you far more "coverage" in protection. Spray it on, or rub it on like a cologne, after your shower.

For the WAAC, SPAR or WAVE you'll certainly buy two types . . . one "double purpose" scent to use in the daytime, and another more like her regular "date" perfume for evening.

For complete information on this wonderful deodorant, a "double purpose perfume," phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion

IF YOU CAN resist navy blue for spring . . . then you're probably the one who looks better in that other vernal combination, which is so fresh and chic to see . . . white, black and red! Possibly a more sophisticated color scheme it is; lots of women do prefer it, so the designer, Madame Pauline thought up this play on the theme. The high crowned rolled brim sailor is of white straw cloth, trimmed with sheer black veiling which is edged in red embroidery.—ANNICE BRINK.

Can Sale Ban Feb. 20; Rationing Begins Mar. 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The can opener will yield to the cookbook after midnight, Feb. 20. From that time until March 1, when rationing starts, there will be no canned fruits or vegetables sold.

Frozen fruits and vegetables, dried fruits (not dried vegetables,) and canned soups and canned baby foods also are included in the order, issued yesterday by the Office of Price Administration.

MORE COOKING

Fresh fruits and vegetables will not be rationed, and one of the goals of the program will be to compel people to do more real cooking and less can-opening. Home canning also will be encouraged because such goods will not be counted against ration coupons.

Rationing will be by points, 48 points per person in the month of March, regardless of age or occupation. Because there still will be so many unrationed foods—especially fresh fruits and vegetables—there will be no distinction, as there is in Europe, between persons who do light work and heavy work.

PLAN MONTH AHEAD

Since canned baby foods are also on the list, babies will get the same ration points as their elders.

Restaurants and other public eating places will be limited on canned goods but under present plans, will not collect ration coupons from their customers—leaving all ration points to be spent for home cooking.

To housewives, one big problem will be that of planning a month ahead. For instance, at 48 points per person, a family of three will have 144 points to spend in March.

Each can, bottle or package on the new ration list will have a "point value"—perhaps 10 points for a medium-size can of pears, 7 points for a can of spinach, 8 points for a half-pound package of raisins, etc. These figures are only examples.

When she learns these values, the housewife will be advised to figure out how she wants to spend her 144 points for the family of three, for instance. If canned peaches were 14 points per can, she could buy 10 cans of peaches but would have only 4 points left for all other things. Just as she shops for economical foods on a money basis, she will be expected to spend her points so that they go farthest in satisfying both the nutrition and taste needs of her family.

MOLYNEUX, LONDON, DESIGNS COAT THAT DOUBLES AS DRESS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

CAPT. EDWARD MOLYNEUX of London still continues to send models over here, and what he designs is still very important in our native fashions. His newest spring coat as an example, is something that is making news in the garment centers. You may want to see it, so here it is, in our sketch.

Molyneux makes this deep brown soft wool coat, to look very much like a dress, and intends it to be worn as a dress, over a slip, in case you happen to feel that way. It is, however, a good spring coat, with a slightly bloused waist section and a very narrow skirt, trimmed with horizontal tucks.

It buttons down the front in big buttons, and the loose sleeves are held to the wrists by buttons and buttonholes. The lapels are rather wide and deep and the collar is very small and flat.

Make, and Acknowledge, Introductions Gracefully

(Copyright, 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Don't fall into careless habits about the way you make introductions and acknowledge them. It's very easy to do this because these greetings are so frequent and familiar in our everyday lives that we are apt to become casual and thoughtless about giving them proper grace. But remember that these greetings are the essence of that so-important first impression you make, for better or for worse! MRS. BEECKMAN.

WAR JOBS FOR WOMEN

YWCA Lectures Tell How

By BETTY ALDEN

WOMEN ARE JOINING the colors, operating complicated machines in factories, welding in shipyards and even taking men's places as physicians and diplomats.

These wartime jobs that are being held by members of the fair sex all over North America will be discussed in a series of three lectures on American women beginning next Tuesday morning at the Y. W. C. A.

The first speaker will be a distinguished Canadian woman physician, Dr. Marion Hilliard of the University of Toronto. She will discuss the health of women in wartime and will be introduced by Dr. Sara Jordan of the Lahey Clinic, who in private life is social registerite Mrs. Penfield Mower of Commonwealth ave.

Gathering in the Lee Auditorium for the first lecture will be such prominent patronesses as Mr Thomas M. Claflin, president of the Y; Mrs. Francis P. Allen, Jr., Mrs. Robert F. Herrick, Mrs. Parker Converse, Mrs. Howard Marshall, Mrs. Henry E. Russell, Mrs. Edward C. Rue, Mrs. William Montgomery, Mrs. Robert Bishop and Mrs. Richard Fuller, chairman of the lecture committee.

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON, genial star of "Springtime for Henry," brought Mrs. Gaspar Bacon first hand news of her son, Gappy, who is doing so well in Hollywood under his stage name of David Bacon. The friendship between Mr. Horton and Gappy began several summers ago at the Bass Rocks Summer Theater. Since then their paths have crossed frequently in the movie capital and Gappy even consulted Mr. Horton on plans for his recent wedding.

Mrs. Bacon went back stage at the Colonial the other night to invite the genial star out to Dedham for dinner, but because of transportation difficulties the party was shifted in town with Mr. Horton acting as host at tea at the Ritz. His play, incidentally, is the one in which Sister Frothingham has an eight word part.

Bob Bacon, Gap's brother, is in the Air Corps, stationed at Edmond, Okla., and their Dad, former Lieut. Governor of Massachusetts, is overseas.

A ROMANCE which began on the campus of Oho Wesleyan is revealed in a note from Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Purdy telling of the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Ensign Grant B. Southward, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Southward of Swampscott.

Since college where she was president of her sorority, Ruth has been in the chemical research department of a large rubber factory in Akron. Her fiance received his commission in the Naval Air Corps last April and is stationed at South Weymouth.

The newlywed John B. Tuthills are honeymooning at the Hotel Biltmore in New York. They're the couple who had to shift their wedding from hisforic Christ Church to St. John's Chapel in Cambridge because the former is unheated during the week. Mrs. Tuthill is the former Barbara Musgrave, daughter of a noted landscape artist.

MRS. GASPAR BACON of Dedham catches up on news of her son through his good friend, Edward Everett Horton.

THE MYRON WICKSES JR. (Elizabeth Dillingham) have just moved to New York where he is stationed as an ensign in the U. S. N. R. Elizabeth's dad is Walter Dillingham, owner of Hawaii's biggest sugar plantation. He and Mrs. Dillingham are still living at their palatial home on the western slope of Diamond Head where Myron and Elizabeth were married in the summer of 1940. The Dillingham boys, who went to Harvard and squired Beantown debs to parties during their undergraduate days, are all in service.

Myron also went to Harvard and has loads of friends in Boston social circles. His sister is Mrs. Alexander Ladd, Jr., of Milton and his dad, one of the country's biggest steel executives, lives in Cincinnati.

3 Seek Estate of Sister, Gone 20 Years

Two brothers and a sister of Mrs. Margaret M. Walsh of Cambridge, who disappeared 20 years ago and has not since been heard from, want their sister's estate.

Daniel A. and Dennis J. Walsh, and Mrs. Josephine W. Oulett, have a petition on file in Middlesex Probate Court, asking that her property in four Cambridge banks, be turned over to them.

Obituaries

THOMAS H. SEXTON

Public Works Official

Prominent city officials will attend the solemn high mass of requiem for Thomas H. Sexton, 62, head of the bridge and ferry division of the Boston department of public works, to be held at St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury, at 9 a. m. Friday.

Born in the West End and educated in the city's schools, he studied engineering at M. I. T. and entered the employ of the city engineer's office in 1896. In the years since he has held numerous supervisory offices in the public works department.

TIMOTHY J. LYNCH

Retired Engineer

Funeral services for Timothy J. Lynch, of Ashmont st., Dorchester, retired engineer who for many years was New England manager of the Allis-Chalmers Co., will be held Friday from St. Cecilia's Church, with a solemn high mass of requiem at 10.

REV. JOHN A FINNERAL

Midvale Pastor

LOWELL, Feb. 3—Word has been received here of the death of the Rev. John A. Finneral, 37, pastor of St. Theresa's Church, Midvale, son of Mrs. Mary K. Finneral of this city. A graduate of Boston College, he was ordained in 1934 by Bishop John B. Peterson of Manchester, N. H.

MRS. VERA VAN FLEET

Malden Merchant's Wife

Services will be held Friday afternoon for Mrs. Vera G. Van Fleet, 52, of Lincoln st., Melrose, wife of Bruce N. Van Fleet, prominent Malden merchant. She was a well known Malden clubwoman and active in the Center Methodist Church of Malden.

CHARLES W. HARVEY

British Army Veteran

Funeral rites will be held tomorrow for Charles W. Harvey, 50, of Flint st., Lynn, an employe of the Lynn General Electric Co. and veteran of the English army in the last war. A mass will be sung at Sacred Heart Church, with burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Lynn.

JVA NEEDS OFFICERS

Members of the Junior Victory Army who have natural leadership and the ability to inspire obedience to commands are needed as officers of Defense Corps.

The offer is open to all boys and girls of the organization whether they are new recruits or have been enrolled since it was established a year ago.

If you want to be the commander of a JVA unit write for the four-page, illustrated folder. It contains all necessary information. Address your request to Adjutant, Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston. Enclose a three-cent stamp loose in your letter. If you live in the Boston postal district enclose a two-cent stamp.

The folder will be sent on return mail.

(To enroll in the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a ten-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter).

SALARY LOANS FOR WOMEN WITH JOBS

No wage assignment or endorsers needed to get a loan here

Many folks have no security on which to borrow. Borrow up to $300 on the strength of your job. No endorsers needed. No wage assignments taken. We also make many loans up to $1000 on cars and furniture. Loans of $300 and less are made under state supervision. Payments on loans of $300 or less include charges at Household's rate of 3% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. Loans above $300 to $1000 are also made at the low rate of 1½% per month on unpaid balances. Compare our rates with others.

Why Is Marriage Good for Us?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Copyright, 1943, King Features Synd., Inc. World Rights Reserved.

IT'S BLASTS like these that keep columnists hiding in the broom closet. Says one:

"Most times I consider your artic!es real sensible. But when you get talking about marriage, I wonder if you are really right in the head.

"The other day I read where you said: 'Even an unhappy marriage is better than none at all.' I've been mad ever since.

"Of course you will ask me if I'm married. I'm not—and every day I live and watch what married women have to endure, I thank my lucky stars. I am a laboratory worker and love my work. I have a pleasant little bungalow which is my pride and joy. Besides my job and my home I have many cultural interests and fine friends, so my life is far from empty. Why on earth should I throw all this away in order to slave on some selfish, stupid, tiresome man?

I know plenty about marriage, lady. Too much, maybe. But I still insist that marriage is a "must" in normal life. Even an unhappy one. For why?

BECAUSE MARRIAGE SHOVES US AROUND, AND SHOVING AROUND IS WHAT MOST OF US NEED—PLENTY.

The great majority of our human miseries are caused by the fact that we "get sot." We get into a rigid little groove which suits our talent and taste.

But does marriage permit such a delightful arrangement? It certainly does not. Marriage is the world's best buster-upper of private programs. It raises Cain with your peace and privacy.

You don't want to be shoved around. You don't want to change or adjust or even compromise. You want to go on in the same old way. And that's where marriage proves a real blessing.

You know it wasn't over five years ago they were burning coffee in Brazilian locomotives. Every once in a while the fireman threw in a little cream and some sugar.

I would like to have a ticket on that train today. I just tasted my first saucer of ersatz coffee made of chicory root, acorns and a chopped-up innersole.

The taste of that stuff would make a goat gallop backward up a hill. If that's the new order of things I'll take another look at the menu.

FLASH—Toscanini in defiant gesture to Fascism changes two words of Verdi lyrics.

FLASH—Concert patros swoon with patriotic joy!

The Italians will be quick to retaliate. Look for Rome radio to start broadcasting "Mister Four by Four" on a 24-hour schedule.

The crackup of Italy will be dated by future historians from the moment "Italy My Fatherland" was blue-penciled and "Italy Betrayed" was written in.

Three customers rent their minks in the excitement and the bravos were carried around the world by shortwave. One Eskimoe is reported to have swallowed the blubber he expected to chew through February.

Any minute now we're going to take a poke at Wagner or Vagner as we say in concert circles. If we can rewrite Verdi we can put Bach through the same mill.

Thought for the day; sound your "A" and let 'em have it men!

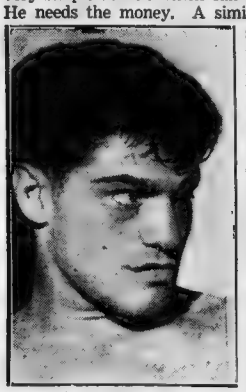
Robinson Bout Is Fuller's Goal

SAMMY FULLER IS staging his ring comeback for a very simple reason which can be summed up in four words. He needs the money. A similar motive prompted men to seek gold in the mountains of California, to risk the cold of Alaska, to brave the wildest regions of Africa and to countless other things which required courage and intelligence.



SAMMY FULLER

There was a time in the Golden Twenties when Fuller would waive aside a $5000 match with the nonchalance of a person very much in the money. Sammy then had upwards of $20,000 in the bank, and the ability to earn more any time he wished to step to bat.

When young and at his fistic peak, Fuller was not an ordinary fighter. He was one of the best in the boxing business. As a featherweight, and later as a lightweight, he was a terrific puncher and better than an average boxer. Harry Kelley once attributed Fuller's dynamic hitting power to his fine chest and shoulder development.

"Fuller hits as hard as a middleweight," declared Kelley in a tone of voice that left for no argument.

I have seen Fuller hit his opponents so hard they stopped as if shot. Kelley says Fuller has retained all of his former hitting ability. Boxers usually do. They can punch as long as they can stand up much like the great sluggers of baseball can knock the agate out of the park long after they are unable to run to first base.

Fuller got his start as a fistic great by a brilliant showing against Chick Suggs at Mechanics Building. It is significant that Sammy will make his latest come-back try against Joe Torres of New York at a Boston Boxing Ass'n show tomorrow night in the same ring where he thrilled the crowd by his battle against Suggs.

The late Tom Goodwin, who promoted the bout, agreed to give Fuller 20 per cent. When Sammy made such a fine showing, Goodwin tossed an extra 2½ per cent of the $12,000 gate into Sammy's lap as a bonus.

Fuller later fought Red Chapman, Dick Finnegan, Andy Callahan, Jimmy McLarin and other great fighters. He probably earned between $150,000 and $200,000. He could have made $250,000 more if he had fought more frequently. It would have been easy for Fuller at his best to have walloped the ordinary run of opposition.

Fuller in Good Condition for One 36 Years Old

FULLER IS PROBABLY in as good condition as it is possible for one 36 years of age to get into. He has trained for six weeks to perfect his timing and to develop his wind. He has been pronounced fit by Harry Kelley.

Sammy always took good care of himself. He had pride in his physical appearance, and even when he was not boxing he took time out to work in the gym. Later he gave boxing lessons to ambitious youngsters and this helped to keep him on edge.

I have never seen Torres box, but I am told he is a club fighter who gives action. He has weathered ten rounds with many boxers, and he expects to give Fuller sturdy opposition. Fuller should win, but Torres will give him a test. It is better for the future stages of Fuller's come-back campaign that he be forced to go six to eight rounds tomorrow night.

Ray (Sugar) Robinson at End of Trail

IF FULLER CAN keep winning, he will draw some good gates. Sammy always gave intense action and even at the age of 36 he will be in there tossing his best Sunday punch. Later on Fuller hopes to meet Ray (Sugar) Robinson in this city. When Fuller takes on Robinson, he will have arrived at the end of the fistic trail. He will lose to Robinson, who is one of the greatest welterweights in the world, but he will go down throwing punches which is the most one can ask of one who has been fighting as man and boy for almost 20 years. He will also get a juicy purse.

Tommy Kloby Corcoran will be in Fuller's corner. The former Y. D. champion has been issued a second's license. Kloby once quit boxing to regain his health, went West, returned East to go overseas with the Yankee Division, took up boxing again while in service and when he returned home won the New England welterweight title. Kloby should act as an inspiration to Fuller, though I don't think Sammy needs any such mental tonic.

JONES DEFIANT AT MOVE FOR 136 LOAD ON WHIRLY

By HORACE WADE

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 3—Mutiny is brewing at the Fair Grounds. The smoothly running ship of turf state is headed toward rough waters, according to horsemen now checking off the days until the running of the $10,000 added New Orleans Handicap Feb. 26.

There's little doubt this mile and one-sixteenth scramble will be raised in value to at least $20,000 and that the field of eligibles will be topped by the Calumet Farm's long-tailed wonder horse, Whirlaway.

In fact, it's around Whirlaway most of the dissension whirlpools at present.

GREATEST DRAWING CARD

Trainer Ben A. Jones is determined his chestnut flash shall never break down through the shouldering of excess weight. Unlike Discovery, who toted up to 138 pounds on occasion, "Plain Ben" has set a high-water mark of 130 pounds with a "take it or leave it" attitude. Naturally, Whirlaway is the greatest single drawing card on the turf today. If any doubt of this ever existed, the record turnout and mutuels handle on "Whirlaway Day" here at the Fair Grounds must have dispelled such misgivings. Should the "big hoss" be again in the New Orleans 'Cap parade you can look for the mightiest crowd to ever storm a sporting event in Louisiana, reminiscent of the time-hallowed match between Lexington and LeCompte back in granddaddy's day.

Racing Secretary Julius G. Reeder will spend many sleepless nights as he prepares his weights for the New Orleans. If he assigns Whirlaway more than 130 pounds he may weight the chunky little Calumet horse right out of the race. But let him put as little as 130 on his back and some horsemen are fearsomely fulminating that not only will they duck the issue, but that the race may even develop into a "walkover."

HE'LL NEVER ACCEPT IT

The other evening a group of horsemen talked it over informally in the lobby of a local hotel. Hirsch Jacobs was present; so was I. Beiber, Moody Jolley, Frank Podesta and a few others. All were more than innocent bystanders; each has a hopeful for the classic and is as keenly anxious to cop the lion's share as the next fellow.

BEN JONES
Would Keep Whirly In Stable

It was Hirsch Jacobs who started scribbling figures on the back of an envelope.

"Let's start," he suggested, "at 136 pounds. That's what Whirlaway ought to carry."

"He'll never accept it," spoke up Moody Jolley whose Riverland is rated one of the champion's main rivals. "Jones won't run under that kind of weight."

"If he carries any less," said Frank Podesta, general manager of Valdina Orphan. Rounders and other Valdina Farm horses, "all other starters should be scaled down accordingly."

Hirsch Jacobs' pencil continued to fly.

THE MAIN DUEL

"Riverland," he said, "and Requested are about tied for second place. Let's say 124 pounds. That's a 12 pound concession from Whirlaway. Valdina Orphan is right around that level, too—120 pounds. Bright Gallant, my own horse, we'll assign 118. Even at that weight he can't whip Whirlaway. But it at least gives him a chance."

"How about Corydon?" asked Jolley.

"I'm not too high on the Greentree horse. He's a sulker and unreliable. With more than 11[illegible] pounds his own chances will go up in smoke. Marriage is a doubtful starter since feeling the firing irons. Even at 112 pounds I don't think he'll go. Staretor, Copperman, Tragic Ending and the others have little show. You can write your own ticket on them. The main duel looms between those I've already mentioned."

Podesta thoughtfully considered the figures, then emphatically shook his head.

"Whirlaway," he said, reiterating the common assertion, "will stay in his barn if he's assigned anything close to 136 pounds. Jones said that in New York, and again in Florida."

"In which case," chirped Jolley, "Riverland can be counted out. I could have won the $5000 Chalmette Handicap last Saturday under 124 pounds, but if I'd come home in front I'd have picked up three pounds against Whirlaway and probably wound up with 127 against his 130. There's far from a three pound difference between that pair. And if I figure from the weights that Riverland is out of it, you can bet your last dollar he'll have a good sound sleep Handicap Day while someone else gets tossed to the lions."

"Unless the weights are right," said Hirsch Jacobs again, "there will be nobody to meet Whirlaway at all. He can merely gallop around after the purse. I for one won't be chasing him."

Nor I," said Frank Podesta, "nor I!"

Such is the open rebellion smouldering in the ranks of Fair Grounds owners and trainers, and all because of the presence on the grounds of a long-tailed, chestnut-coated son of Blenheim, 2d, with dynamite in his hide and lightning in his stride. It will be most interesting to watch Julius Reeder's weight assignments for the New Orleans and the general reaction of the racetrackers to his handicapping skill.

CHIMMY BEAT MANY BIG STARS

There'll be anything but peace at the Arena Friday night when Johnny Seaman takes on Henry Chmielewski in the 10-round feature.

Both boys have plenty of ring knowledge, both are clever on their feet and both can toss a kayo punch with either hand. They have had plenty of experience in the ring and they'll be shooting for quick knockouts rather than risk any carrying against such stiff opposition.

Chmielewski, since coming from Poland, has had plenty of battles against some of the top notchers in the country. Former New England champion Chimmy numbers among his victims such standouts as George Abrams, former world's champion, Howell King, Tony Martin, Milwaukee, Coley Welch, Portland, Me., Frankie Nelson, Roxbury, and Lou Brouillard, former champ from Worcester.

SPORT GREATS TO HONOR BOYS

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Maj. Walter Brown of the First Service Command, former president of the Boston Garden Corp., has been added to the list of guest speakers at the annual banquet to be tendered to the Boston Evening American-Daily Record Board of Coaches' All Scholastic football team tonight at the Hotel Lenox.

Major Brown, long recognized as one of the biggest boosters of schoolboy sports, will share the speaker's platform with Joe McKenney, director of physical education in Boston schools, and a pair of U. S. Navy lieutenants, Robert P. "Whitey" Fuller, Dartmouth, and Felix Caracciolo, Yale.

McKENNEY A FAVORITE

Major Brown will be able to guide the schoolboys in their future courses insofar as the Army and the draft are concerned while Lieuts. Fuller and Caracciolo, former watch charm guard on the Eli football team from Weymouth, will be boosting the U. S. Navy stock.

Joe McKenney, always a favorite speaker with the boys, never fails to tell of his interesting experiences as a coach, grid official and athletic director.

Another feature of the evening's program will be the awarding of the All Scholastic Jackets to the members of this official All Scholastic team. These jackets, donated by the James W. Brine Sporting Goods Co., Summer st., Boston, are all wool with white buttons on a blue body and appropriate red and white trimmings on the neck, cuffs and bottoms.

Gold engraved football charms will also be given to the members of the team, eight of whom are expected to be on hand for the presentations. This group will include Lennie Morrissey, Newton; Roy Norden, Boston English; Bob Connell, Saugus; Joe Indrisano, Revere; Mando Provitola, Malden; Mitch Smiarowski, Lynn Classical; Craig Capaccioli, Quincy, and Bob Clark, Watertown.

BILL GRIMES, THE M. C.

Ray Brickley, Everett, captain of the team, and Johnny "Bozo" Moran, Salem, have joined the armed forces and both are in training. Al Cannava, Medford, has left his studies in high school to pick up his books and football play at Notre Dame.

Members of the Board of Coaches, to be at the head table, will include George Kenneally, Revere; Dennie Gildea, Everett; Fred Ostergren, Arlington; Bill Broderick, Salem; Jim Mansfield, Haverhill; Harry Downes, Brookline; Bill Ohrenberger, Boston English, and Ed "Skip" Sherlock, Hyde Park.

Bill Grimes, popular sports writer, will be master of ceremonies.

IMMEDIATE RULING ON BASEBALL URGED

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (INS)—Clark Griffith, smart old owner of the Washington Senators, will do baseball a lasting service if he fulfills expectations of buttonholing key members of the government in the next few days on the national pastime's place in the work-or-fight program.

Some high officials have suggested that baseball and other sports build morale, and there has been a disposition to let the athletes operate, but as the baseball season approaches, the confusion and doubt is growing.

WOULD AID GAME

They might apply the axe now, instead of waiting until April or May, or they might tell baseball to make its plans with some assurance that nothing will be done until necessary.

While nobody has a right to expect the answer from Washington until the officials are good and ready to supply it, there won't be any harm in Clark Griffith making some inquiries among his fellow-Washingtonians. If he can get some guidance either way—for or against starting the season—one big industry will be able to pitch in on the war effort or go on about its business.

Clark Griffith is the one to dig into this if anybody can. He is better acquainted around Washington than the other baseball people because of his long residence there and may come up with the riddle all worked out very promptly.

Anyway, he has long been a staunch adherent to the idea that they never rule you off for trying.

'WHAT TO EXPECT

Whether he will be justified in his reported plans to present a program providing for concessions to ball players is one you can argue about all night. He surely won't make it look as though baseball is begging and he won't be doing any harm in trying to obtain for all baseball some indication of what to expect. And for other professional sports as well, although baseball and horse racing are about the only pro activities left on a big scale.

Speaking about manpower, that Fritzie Zivic, of Pittsburgh, is around again preparing for a fight, this time with Beau Jack, and causing most veteran boxing observers to wonder just how many more years he will be able to crank up and turn it on in the ring.

A surprising number give him a chance to interrupt the New York commission lightweight champion's current streak. If Zivic is in a fighting mood Friday night. He is still a pretty good fighter at his best and everybody agrees there is no telling just how many more years he will be throwing leather.

Regret's $34,093 Earnings Due To Small Stakes

By FRANK MENKE

Regret, the only filly to win the Kentucky Derby, was very successful as a 2-year-old, followed her Derby triumph with other victories as a 3-year-old in 1915, and was a crack handicap horse in 1916 and 1917.

Yet her lifetime earnings were only $34,093, because stakes offerings in her hey-day were only a trifle compared with this era.

Gallant Fox, winner of the 1930 Kentucky Derby, was retired at the end of that season after having earned $308,275 as a 3-year-old—still the world's record for single season earnings by any horse. He went to the post 10 times that year, won nine races and was second in his other start.

He was the second horse to win the "Triple Crown"—Kentucky Derby, Pimlico Preakness and Belmont Stakes—only Sir Barton preceding him.

BACKSTRETCH BREVITIES

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3—W. O. Hicks has registered his stable of nine head with the Fair Grounds racing secretary's office. The Hicks trained string includes the promising 3-year-old Joe Burger, Promisette and La Riche and six two-year-olds.

Another outfit to register was that trained by Frank J. Kearns, a public stable of Manamaid, Grand Party, British Warm and Wood Spirit.

A widely applauded policy of the Fair Grounds in recent weeks has been the paying of a portion of the winner's share of feature races in War Bonds. To date 42 $100 bonds, maturity value, have been distributed in this fashion at a cost of $3150.

With the plan continuing throughout the meeting, and with many rich stakes ahead, Racing Secretary Julius G. Reeder expects the final figure to be many times its present number.

George Hyland, paddock judge at the Fair Grounds, has received stall applications, and trainers and colors blanks from New York. They can now be secured by horsemen at his office.

Robert Tolden, trainer of the Aberdeen Stable, has humanely destroyed Sudden Thoughts which broke down in the final race Wednesday. The horse suffered a fractured sesamoid bone.

Apprentice Leo Dotter's last ride in silks for a while was on Fair Broom in Thursday's fifth race. Following that performance the boy packed his tack and left to be inducted into Uncle Sam's armed services, just another of the numerous "race-trackers" swapping silks for khaki.

Jockey Johnny Adams, leading rider of the meeting until his departure for Miami, returned and swung into immediate action. He plans to stay out the meeting in an effort to catch the pace-setting Darrell Clingman, now top man among the jockeys.

Rich Uncle was claimed out of Thursday's eighth race by Mrs. V. Sovinski for $2250.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bishop, owners of a string of horses in charge of trainer Frank Nugent, arrived from their home at Anna, Ill. They plan an indefinite stay.

'NUF CED' MCGREEVY DIES

Michael "Nuf Ced" McGreevy, originator of the Boston Royal Rooters and one of the best known characters in baseball is dead. McGreevy hit the front pages back in 1897 when he led the Boston delegation of rooters to Baltimore.

From then on he took an active part in the baseball doings at both Braves Field and Fenway Park, where he was well known to the rank and file of the players. He was the leading figure when the Red Sox played Pittsburgh in 1903; in the Giants-Red Sox series, 1912; the Braves memorial series in which the Boston club beat the Athletics in 1914.

In 1915 when the Red Sox met the Phillies for the world's pennant and took on the Dodgers the following year, he lead the big cheering sections from the Hub.

In 1918 McGreevy made the song "Tessie" famous when the Red Sox and Cubs played the World War I series.

Mack, as he was known to thousands of fans, would have been 78 next June. Failing health has kept him confined to his home the past four years.

He will be buried from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Thompson at 32 Goodrich rd., Jamaica Plain, Friday morning, after a solem.: high mass at the Mission Church, Roxbury, where he served as an altar boy 66 years ago.

MARYLAND PLANS PURSES ON MUTUELS

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—The horsemen of Maryland want racing continued and their thoroughbreds kept in trim during this war, so they came out in favor of purses based on the size of mutuels play, even "as small as $5" if need be.

At least, such was the case with members of the Maryland Horsemen's Protective Ass'n — representing some 300 owners—which pledged full co-operation with owners of the four major state tracks if the contingent purse plan were adopted.

DAY TO DAY PAY-OFF

Under the proposal, purses could be paid from day to day or at the conclusion of the meeting, depending upon the preference of the individual tracks.

There was no immediate answer from the managements at Pimlico, Laurel, Havre de Grace and Bowie, now struggling with the problem of transportation for fans who can't use their automobiles.

The association specified that the chief objective was to make certain racing would continue.

EVEN $5 PURSE

E. C. Eastwood, association spokesman, asserted that "the Maryland Horsemen's Protective Ass'n stands ready to race for purse as small as $5 if such a case should prove necessary to insure continuation of the sport."

"It is reasonable to believe," Eastwood continued, "that many horsemen, notably those who make racing their sole business, would have to dispose of their stock and seek other lines of endeavor should racing be curtailed.

"This is something new," cracked Leo as Dr. W. I. Park drew a blood sample during the brief examination. "It's been three days since I had a blood test.

"I hope I pass and I think I will," he said.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

A good way to go on the job refreshed is to start with an ice-cold Coca-Cola. Its pure refreshment goes quickly into energy.

You can count on a trustworthy engineer to stay on the right track. One of our first rules in making Coca-Cola is to buy the choicest ingredients. Another rule is to blend them with all the 57 years of skill that have made ice-cold Coca-Cola the most popular soft drink on earth.

For you, there's only one rule in order to enjoy ice-cold Coca-Cola. Be sure you get the real thing. Call for it by its full name or by its affectionate abbreviation—Coke. It's the way to get the distinctive taste and summed up goodness that make ice-cold Coca-Cola a thing unto itself. It's the way to change a commonplace thirst-quenching into the energizing pause that refreshes.

There's no place like home for the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola. Because ice-cold Coca-Cola adds to relaxation what relaxation needs — refreshment.

With a he-man lunch, you want more than just a beverage. You want refreshment, too. That's what ice-cold Coca-Cola is . . . refreshment . . . all refreshment.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time.

FRANCONIA PICTURESQUE SKI CENTER

FRANCONIA, N. H., Feb. 3—Transformed by the magic of winter into a veritable Alpine skiing hamlet is this picturesque village, the white lining in the pocket of surrounding mountains . . . Challenging skiers, mighty Cannon Mountain looks down upon this schuss center, and ribboned with steep, wide trails, it has become one of America's most popular peaks for the wearers of the winged boards.

We are at this snow spot in a final attempt to whip into condition for the U. S. Mountain Troops at Camp Hale, Colorado, whence we head in a few weeks . . . And fortunate indeed are we to enjoy the pleasure of skiing with Sel Hannah, former Dartmouth ski captain, Olympic cross-country man and Para-ski-troops instructor, who is operating his nice Ski Hearth Farm in the region with his wife, Paulie . . . And Sel's pride and joy are his blooded cattle.

Genial Roland Peabody, manager of the Aerial Tramway, greeted us at the valley station. "The Tram will run daily until April 1," he declared. "Most of the vacationists in the area this season have been service men on leave, war workers, or men—like yourself—about to join the armed forces. Skiing has made great contributions to the war efforts."

It was nice to see familiar faces among the flying figures on the hickories . . . There was Hans Thorner, famous Swiss stylist and instructor, sending the powder into spraying geysers on a fast turn; Sig Buchmayr, another noted meister, was also in fine form; as were Roger Peabody, Peg O'Neill and Lydea Wilson, a Silver Cannon holder . . . But many faces were missing from the trails, many of them now bronzed and wind burned in the Mountain Troops or other branches of the service.

Riddled Pics Play in Philly

A depleted squad of hockey players were in Philadelphia today as the Olympics duel the Falcons tonight in an Eastern League tilt.

Biggest local problem at present is in the goal tending department, where Hago Harrington will use a borrowed net-minder. Either Muzz Murray, Coast Guard spare, or a recruit from the New York Met League will hold forth.

By the time the Pics return to the Garden on Friday and Saturday evenings, the Boston coach expects to have a net-minder of his own available.

Olympics have a wide edge over their Philadelphia rivals in games played to date. In Boston the Phillies have just one victory in four starts, while on their home ice the Falcons have a win and a tie to show in the four games played.

FRANCES CLAUDET COMBINES SKILL, BEAUTY IN ICE FOLLIES

A combination of nature's own pulchritude with the adroit skill of the world's best ice skaters is one of the beauty secrets of the Ice Follies which will appear at the Boston Garden, starting Wednesday evening, February 10.

Frances Claudet does the combining of skill and beauty in her capacity as choreographer and director of skating routines for the dazzling ice revue.

SHOW EXECUTIVE

The brilliant young Canadian sta. also displays her championship skill in the Ice Follies each night

A full-time executive of the ice extravaganza, Miss Claudet sits in on conferences with Oscar Johnson, Eddie and Roy Shipstad, Miss Fanchon and Helen Rose to plan the thrilling production numbers. After these conferences she must carry out and direct general ideas into precise routines.

IN '36 OLYMPICS

Both as a director and a skating star, Miss Claudet combines great skill with infinite patience and sparkling originality. In her background are achievements of note, for she was senior ladies' figure skating champion of Canada and represented that country in the Olympic games of 1936. She is a gold medalist, highest skating honor available.

Miss Claudet's present important role in the production of the Ice Follies also points back to other directional duties. She assisted in direction of summer operettas at Lake Placid, as well as in several professional ice revues and was skating director of "Ice Follies of 1939," skating movie producted by M. G. M. and starring the Ice Follies cast.

Weight Argument Holds Up Pep, Jack Bout Signing

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—A matter of 10 pounds or so of weight has delayed the completion of plans for a 10-round nontitle bout between Willie Pep of Hartford, Ct., and Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., recognized in New York as featherweight and lightweight champion, respectively. The bout had been planned for March 5 at Madison Square Garden.

The proposal was presented at the meeting of the New York State Athletic Commission and Brig.-Gen. John J. Phelan, commission chairman, said that the bout would be approved only if Jack signed a contract calling for him to come in at 140 pounds so that his lightweight title would not be at stake. Lou Viscusi, Pep's manager, refused to consider these terms, contending that the featherweight ruler, weighing only 127 or 128 pounds, should not be required to meet a first-class boxer who would have from 10 to 12 pounds advantage in weight.

GEORGETOWN ACE TO RUN IN HOLLIS 600

Making his debut as a trophy runner, Hugh Short of Georgetown has accepted an invitation to run the Hollis 600, the middle-distance classic of the annual Boston A. A. games at the Garden one week from Saturday.

In the helter skelter of relay races the powerful finisher from Washington, D. C., has raced here before. He ran the anchor leg on the memorable mile relay of last year's meet, when Georgetown unfurled a whistling 3:21.3 race against Fordham and St. John's University.

47.8 ANCHOR LEG

Short ran an indomitable anchor leg against the great Jack Campbell of Fordham in the second fastest mile relay (by one-tenth of a second) ever raced indoors in Boston.

Georgetown had the No. 1 mile team of the year, on time, and Short was the reason. He galloped a 47.8s anchor leg the night of the Navy Relief meet in New York when the Hoyas put the world indoor record far down to 3:17.2.

Until the outdoor IC 4-A quartermile, Short was rarely on his own. But on that occasion at Randall Island he staged the prime upset of the championships when he beat Al Diebolt of Colgate in a 47.2s final heat. Short was only a tenth off the intercollegiate record for his 440.

ANOTHER 14-FOOTER

He will encounter Chargin' Charlie Beetham, defender, record-holder (1:11.8), and three-straight-winner of the Hollis event here.

The games committee added a second 14-foot vaulter to the list with the entry of Howard Jensen of Philadelphia, the Middle Atlantic champion. The other is A. R. (Boo) Morcom, the indoor intercollegiate champion from the University of New Hampshire.

By BILL GRIMES

Unless one disregards the truth completely, there's little that can be written in favor of the quality of the hockey displayed during the Bruins' 5 to 3 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks at the Boston Garden.

For the most part it was a drab affair.

In the first period the fans got a few thrills while five slap-stick goals were being scored. But then there was a long intermission. At least the cash customers must have thought so, for they protested against the listless type of hockey.

It's been some time since the fans have been obliged to yell for action at the Garden.

3 GAMES IN FRONT

There was a slight flurry of excitement when Bill Cowley scored his third goal, but after that the audience could have gone back to sleep without missing anything until Bep Guidolin drew a minor and a misconduct penalty along with a $25 fine, six minutes before the end of the game.

The features of the game were that the victory moved the Bruins three full games out in front of the Detroit Red Wings and point hogging on the parts of Bill Cowley, Buz Boll and Art Jackson.

Bill Cowley was the leading point scorer of the N. H. L. going into the contest, two points over Lorne Carr, the Maple Leafs' right winger. "Cowboy" Bill scored three goals, which is the second time this season he has turned in the "Hat Trick." He also picked up a fourth point by assisting on Art Jackson's tally late in the final period.

BILL COWLEY
Increases Lead

BOLL IN NO. 3 SPOT

According to reports (not from Cowley), Bill was robbed of two legitimate assists in Toronto last Saturday. In order to take the responsibility off the local official scorers, Cowley changed his modus operandi last night and became a scorer and Buz Boll, who tops the league in goals (25), took over the play-making assignment. He did very well for himself in that branch, coming up with four fine assists.

The "Buzzer" was in fifth place before last night's game. Now he's in the No. 3 spot, passing Max Bentley and Billy "The Kid" Taylor. Boll's record for the season is now 25 goals and 22 assists for 47 points. He's still only eight points in arrears of his teammate, Bill Cowley.

When the Bruins arrived in Toronto last Saturday, Art Jackson heard a rumor that the Bruins were looking for a new left winger. Of course it was "scuttlebutt," but apparently "Stoney" took it seriously for in the last three games he has annexed no less than 10 points.

Referee Bill Chadwick slowed Bep Guidolin down to a walk when he hung a $25 fine on the little right winger . . . Bep was sent off for slashing and when he asked Chadwick "What the —— is the matter with you"? he drew the 10-minute misconduct penalty and chopped 25 bucks off his next salary check . . . "Dit" Clapper and Paul Thompson put on a master-minding act at the start of the second period . . . When Murph Chamberlain and Fido Purpur crashed into the boards late in the opening period, they hit Referee Chadwick and Bill was thrown completely over the fence and into the laps of the "Railers." Bill lost his whistle and so he yelled at Ag Smith to stop the play.

BAREFOOT BOYS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP)—Arnold College's cagers played the last half of their game with Lasalle last night without shoes because of a slippery floor. They lost, however, 83 to 48.

100 Year Old Skater May Show in N. Y.

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 3 (AP)—John Jerome White, who waited 100 years to turn professional, may skate in New York's Madison Square Garden.

White recently celebrated his 100th birthday by cutting some capers on ice skates at a figure skating revue, then joined a touring troupe for appearances in several Pacific Northwest cities. Today the Spokane athletic round table said an effort would be made to get billing for White in New York city.

Landis to Attend N. Y. Sports Dinner

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Commr. K. M. Landis seldom makes trips from his Chicago home to New York in mid-winter, but he is coming to New York this week-end with the baseball writers' annual dinner and show as the excuse.

But the Broadway betting is that Landis won't be too busy with his steak to talk about the Philadelphia Phil situation, especially since Memphis Bill Terry is rumored planning a trip to New York—also for the dinner, of course.

These We Mourn—Victories are not won without price . . . and in this instance the price for the Marines' shellacking of the Japs on Guadalcanal are the rows of crude graves containing the bodies of Yank dead. Buddies stand over the graves, heads bowed, as chaplain intones burial service.

Wounded Chiefs—Convalescing from wounds received in action, some place in Australia, are these three U. S. generals. They are, left to right, Brig.-Gens. Hanford MacNider, Albert W. Waldron and Clovis E. Byers. They led troops against enemy in New Guinea.

Marine Hero—Sergt. Theodore Cogswell saw three Marines giving ground. He shouted: "Don't do that! Remember, you are Marines!" Then he bayonetted Jap officer, yanked his samuari sword away and whirling it about his head led a counter-charge.
